Field Marshal von Rundstedt Reinforces Threatened Southern Flank to Ten Divisions and Sends 100 Tanks Into Terrific Conflict

Paris, Jan. 4.—(P)—American First Army infantry and tanks fought three miles forward in the new offensive against the north flank of the Belgian bulge by 8 a. m. and continued the advance today through a blinding snowstorm, it was disclosed at supreme headquarters.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, Jan. 4.—(P)—The U. S. First Army passed its initial objectives today in a powerful new offensive into the north flank of the German bulge below Grandmenil, capturing an unidentified village and key high points during a blinding snowstorm against stiffening tank opposition.

Some 15 miles or so to the south, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army advance was halted at least temporarily by violent German counter-attacks north and northeast of Bastogne against the famous 101st Airborne Division. Field Marshal von Rundstedt built his southern flank force to 10 divisions.

Persistent German attacks from the Saar to the Rhine, however, had forced the Americans from their holdings in the German Palatinate

13th Straight Day Attack Over Reich

London, Jan. 4.—(P)—German reports of Allied bombers approaching from the south, apparently U. S. 15th Air Force Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Italy, heralded the 13th straight daylight attack on the Reich today.

Up until noon there was no warning of bomber formations invading Germany from the west—a sign that the weather might be halting the record winter string of 12 consecutive days of raids by the U. S. Eighth Air Force from Britain.

Snow, rain and leaden skies prevented operations yesterday by aircraft based in France, Belgium and Holland. Bombers flying from Britain had to drop their explosives through a heavy overcast. In the past 12 days the eighth Air Force flew 18,000 sorties and unloaded 26,000 tons of bombs on German objectives, principally forward positions near the western front, a U. S. army announcement said. The assault was complemented by the RAF with both day and night attacks.

Late yesterday British four-engine Lancasters and Halifaxes bombed two German fuel plants near Dortmund in the Ruhr and long-range Mosquitos carried the attacks through the night with raids on scattered objectives in western Germany.

More than 900 fighter bombers and fighters struck at enemy communications in a wide area in Italy (Turn to Page Nine)

Axis Still Holds Offensive Power

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the Germans still hold enough power to launch another, though smaller, offensive on the western front. The Germans, he told his weekly news conference, are a "tough, disciplined enemy" and will "never rest on a passive defense."

Speaking of German activity on the Seventh Army front in the region of the Saar, Stimson said it remains to be seen whether that was a probe or intended as a sizeable attack.

From the beginning of the German attack on Dec. 16 through Dec. 30 a total of 22,430 German prisoners were taken, Stimson said. Turning to the Pacific, the secretary sounded a warning similar to that regarding German power.

Shoppers Swell Store Coffers To an All-Time High in 1944

Cleveland, Jan. 4.—(P)—Christmas shoppers swelled department store coffers to an all-time high in 1944, the Federal Reserve Bank said today in its monthly business view.

In its report covering the Fourth district—Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky—the review said: "Fourth district department stores have just experienced the greatest dollar volume of Christmas business in their history."

The review attributed this to the greatly increased wartime incomes and the higher prices of retail gift merchandise. Industrial production fell about

Sen. Taylor Does Not Play His Banjo in Vain

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Senator Glen Taylor (D-Ia.), got results from his musical plea for a place to live in crowded Washington. The one time "singing cowboy" said today he had received "25 or 30 offers" for lodgings since he gathered his family about him on the capitol steps yesterday, strummed his banjo and sang: "Oh, give us a home near the capitol dome."

The Taylors have temporary accommodations at a hotel.

NAZIS TRY TO BREAK SIEGE AT BUDAPEST

First German Counter Offensive on East Front Since Oct. Seeks to Pierce Red Lines

SOVIETS YIELD GROUND

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Jan. 4.—(P)—Mobile warfare raged between Budapest and Vienna today as a huge German tank and infantry force, mounting the first German counter-offensive on the eastern front since October, sought to break through Russian lines on the relief of the surrounded garrison in the Hungarian capital.

In the last two days the Russians had given ground and it was probable that more would have to be yielded, although the Russians appeared to be getting the situation in hand.

The German counter-assault was sprung from the area of Komarom, a Danube river town 45 miles northwest of Budapest.

The German-Hungarian garrison in Budapest, where the Russians have overrun 1,062 city blocks, was reported making savage attacks in an effort to break out toward the relieving force.

Nearly a third of the eastern section of the capital was in Soviet hands, an additional 200 blocks having been captured in the last 24 hours.

The exact time the Germans launched their counter-attack in the Komarom area has not been disclosed.

A heavy German thrust was thrown at Russian artillery positions. A Red Star dispatch said the artillery line had been forced back by German tanks southeast of the city, but it did not state the extent of the withdrawal. The official account said merely that the Russians had given up several populated points along the southern bank of the Danube.

The most recent official accounts of the advance on Komarom had placed Russian elements 10½ miles east of the city. The German air force has been giving increasing support to the attacking armor and infantry.

NATURAL GAS USERS ARE URGED TO CURTAIL

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Residential users of natural gas in Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and West Virginia are asked by the Office of War Utilities to cut their consumption as much as possible to alleviate an emergency gas shortage.

Edward Falck, director of OWU, a unit of the War Production Board, said heating demand has necessitated the curtailment of gas delivery to nearly all industrial users. The curtailment is expected to let up "as soon as weather conditions improve," he added.

Headquarters U. S. 14th Air Force, China, Jan. 3.—(Delayed)—(P)—Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault was awarded the Legion of Merit today for the "phenomenal success" which he achieved as commander of the China air task force between July 4, 1942, and March 9, 1943. The medal was pinned on by Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure, chief of staff to Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of U. S. forces in the China theater.

WEST MIFLIN WELL OFF

Pittsburgh, Jan. 4.—(P)—West Mifflin borough entered its second year with a $195,000 surplus, of which $60,000 is in War Bonds, officials announced today. The Allegheny county community became a borough Jan. 1, 1944. Its council tentatively approved a continuance of its 10 mill tax rate and approved an $85,000 budget, $6,000 above that of last year.

However, there was no indication the Republicans would make an organized fight against the nomination, which the Interstate Commerce Committee will consider Monday.

Committee action on the other nominations will also probably wait until next week.

SALVAGE COLLECTIONS 170 LBS. PER PERSON

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—(P)—Salvage of war-worn paper, tin cans, rags, used fats, and iron and steel scrap in Pennsylvania during the first 11 months of 1944 amounted to 170 pounds per person, the state Defense Council's Salvage Committee reported.

Warren R. Roberts, salvage chairman, said yesterday the per capita collections were: Paper, 105 pounds; iron and steel scrap, 56 pounds; rags, four pounds; tin cans, three pounds; and used fats, two pounds.

Erie, Jan. 4.—(P)—Thomas H. Schaefer was elected chairman yesterday of the Erie county board of commissioners, succeeding N. Deil Darling.

Pay Tribute to Local Ration Boards Friday

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—(P)—Governor Martin asked Pennsylvania communities to honor members of local War Price and Ration Boards tomorrow on the third anniversary of their creation.

The board members, the governor said in a statement have worked "at considerable personal sacrifices and without compensation to assist in the effort to make fair distribution of war scarce commodities at fair prices."

Casualties Through Dec. Total 638,139

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Exclusive of the bitter German counter-offensive, American combat casualties through Dec. 31 totaled 638,139. This was an increase of 9,698 over the total announced last week for the period through December 14.

Secretary of War Stimson told a news conference the war department has not yet received an accurate statement of personnel and material losses resulting from the Nazi drive launched December 16. He added it will be some time before a report is available.

Army casualties totaled 556,352 through December 21, an increase of 8,529, and the navy's total was 81,787, a rise of 1,169.

The army's figures reported today and those reported last week follow:

Killed, 103,991 and 102,961; wounded, 326,127 and 319,935; missing, 66,567 and 65,762; prisoners of war, 59,667 and 59,165.

Comparable figures for the navy: Killed, 31,332 and 31,182; wounded, 38,997 and 35,942; missing, 9,277 and 9,010; prisoners of war, 4481 and 4484. The decrease in the prisoner of war category apparently represented shifts to other classifications.

MESSAGE MAY BE PUT ON AIR IN PERSON

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—President Roosevelt is thinking of driving his annual message home to the American people Saturday by submitting it to congress and putting it on the air in person.

That's the procedure he followed last year. He sent the "state of the union" message to Capitol Hill at noon, Jan. 11, then read it almost word for word over the radio the same night.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt will take another spin around the same course Saturday hasn't been determined finally, partly because the message has not been finished.

Canadians Inflict Heavy Casualties

Rome, Jan. 4.—(P)—Canadian forces have captured the village of Conventello, two miles east of Alfonsine on the Ravenna-Ferrara highway after inflicting heavy casualties on picked German forces, Allied headquarters announced today.

Approximately 100 prisoners were taken in the advance. American artillery broke up four sharp enemy raids in the area of San Anziano, just west of highway nine, four miles below Bologna. At the same time the Germans continued their recently adopted tactics of trying to ambush American patrols feeling out enemy positions.

In the right sector of the American Fifth Army front, German artillery laid down a rocket barrage followed by a series of raids in the vicinity of Monte Dell'orso and Sillare ridge, but were repulsed after making contact with our forces.

SUCCESSOR TO ROSS WILL BE DEMOCRAT

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—(P)—Governor Martin is expected to name a Democrat as auditor general to complete F. Clair Ross' term expiring April 30.

Martin, a Republican, said yesterday he thought it fair to give the office to a Democrat because "that's the will of the people."

Ross, who won a superior court seat in the Democratic sweep last November, will take over his new post the middle of January.

RAILROAD CHIEF DIES

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(P)—John Lansing Beven, 57, who spent his entire working career of almost 45 years with the Illinois Central Railroad, advancing to the presidency in 1938, died unexpectedly last night aboard his office car in Clinton, Ill. Coronary thrombosis was given as the cause of death. Beven, regarded as "a railroad man's president," left his native home of McComb, Miss., at the age of 12 to become a messenger boy in New Orleans for the Illinois Central

Leader of 1922 Revolution Takes Over the Burden of Premiership of Greece Today

By STEPHEN BARBER

Athens, Jan. 4.—(P)—Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, leader of the 1922 revolution, took over the burdened premiership of Greece today with the declaration that the first task was "full restoration of the state's authority."

It was understood that he planned to make a further appeal today to rebellious left-wing ELAS to lay down their arms. No representative of the ELAS is in the new cabinet, but the new foreign minister, John Sofianopolous, was a possible link with the faction.

Lt. Gen. R. M. Scobie's communiqué told of continued warfare. It reported that British troops were making "good progress" in clearing armed leftists from further areas in central Athens, east of Athens, in Piraeus and sectors south of the Athens-Piraeus road.

Plastiras himself retained four important posts in addition to the premiership, assuming the war, navy, air and merchant marine portfolios. ELAS leaders previously had been reported insisting that they should be considered in filling these posts.

The men with whom Plastiras surrounded himself were described for the most part as having liberal affiliations, although they included several members of prominent families with rightist traditions.

The important post of minister of foreign affairs was awarded to 57-year-old Liberal John Sofianopolous, who founded the Greek Agrarian party in 1932.

Allied Casualties Picture is Hazy

Paris, Jan. 4.—(P)—Supreme headquarters took the position today that Allied losses were a phase of the war which it could not cover—that the announcements must be left to the respective governments.

Admittedly, this makes for an incomplete picture of the battle, in which the Allies have lost heavily, as have the Germans, whose losses are being reported here.

Today, for example, the First and Third Armies announced they had taken a total of 19,154 German prisoners since Field Marshal von Rundstedt's breakthrough started December 16. Besides these official figures, First Army reporters have been permitted to carry "unofficial estimates" that the breakthrough cost the Germans 50,000 casualties.

But there have been no Allied figures to balance the German claims of Allied losses. German propaganda is compounding these daily. Yesterday the German high command's broadcast communique claimed more than 60,000 American casualties since the winter counter-offensive began. Today Germans were proclaiming that 140,000 Americans had been lost on the western front in December.

Lad Reported Missing Now Listed Dead

A second telegram, received last evening from the War Department, brought the sad news to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flick, 306 Poplar street, that their son, Jack, was killed in action on December 16 in Germany.

Word was received on Tuesday that he had been missing in action in that theatre since December 13. He was with an infantry division in the First Army and is believed to have been killed in the early stages of the recent big drive.

Pvt. Flick was born in Warren and had lived until December 31st, would have been 19 years old. He attended local schools and was graduated with the high school class of 1944. He completed his work at mid-year and left here March 18 for New Cumberland.

His basic training was taken at Camp Wheeler, Ga., after which he was transferred to Camp Pickett, Va. He went overseas from there, landing in England about November 24. From there he went into France and Belgium and, more recently, into Germany.

While in school, basketball was his favorite sport. He played on the varsity team at high school and also on several YMCA teams. Full of fun and spirit, he was popular.

"MISS PENNSYLVANIA" IS PLANNING TO WED

Johnstown, Jan. 4.—(P)—"Miss Pennsylvania" of 1944 will marry a McKeesport man, her parents have announced.

"Miss Pennsylvania," known professionally as Margie Dorie and in private life as Doris Hippler, is engaged to Edward Dansak, McKeesport automobile man, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hippler, said.

Miss Hippler was runner-up for the state beauty title in 1942 and 1943 and was among the ten finalists in the "Miss America" beauty pageant at Atlantic City last September.

COORDINATED AIR SMASHES AGAINST JAPS

Ryukus and Formosa Along 2000-Mile Arc Down Through Luzon Are Attacked

LANDINGS ON MINDORO

By the Associated Press

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Jan. 4.—Coordinated air blows smashed southern Japan, the Ryukus and Formosa along a solid 2,000-mile arc down through Luzon, prized island of the Philippine archipelago, as Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today his troops have made two new landings on Mindoro, his closest approach to Manila.

Aircraft carrier planes opened a battering rain assault Wednesday (Philippines date) on Formosa, which funnels Japanese men and planes to the Philippines.

(A Japanese imperial communiqué said 500 carrier and land-based planes made the raid. It claimed 17 planes were shot down and eight damaged.)

(The strategic nature of Formosa as a staging base would require its neutralization to cover any major Yank moves to its south.)

Other carrier aircraft ranged into the Ryukus at a point a little over 300 miles from Japan.

The same day, the biggest force of Saipan-based B-29s yet to fly to Japan started huge fires at Nagoya, Nippon's airplane center on southern Honshu.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced the Formosa attack in a Pearl Harbor communique whose meager detail suggested a radio silence to protect just such a continuing operation as the last previous carrier-based pounding of Formosa in October, the prelude to MacArthur's return to the Philippines.

Nimitz also tersely reported the attack on Okinawa in the Ryukus. MacArthur has not yet reported the air activities over Luzon for Wednesday but today's communique told of bombers and fighters based in the central Philippines ripping that island from north to south, heavily pounding Clark field in the Manila area, and sinking or setting afire 25 ships off the west coast. Those raids were Monday.

On Mindoro, island, where the Yanks landed on the southwest coast at San Jose Dec. 15 to set up an air base from which bombers now are softening up Luzon, MacArthur reported shore-to-shore landings on the east coast and just north of San Jose.

Plan Talks On Foreign Policy

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Amid signs that congress wants more information on foreign policy, Secretary of State Stettinius and Senator Connally (D-Tex.) arranged today a straight-talk session on international problems.

Connally, who is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, expected to learn at the meeting where the administration stands on some current international questions.

In return, he planned to give Stettinius a summary of what he considers is the senate majority's attitude on such problems as European boundary decisions and steps to be taken to organize for future peace. Their session may be followed later by a conference between President Roosevelt, Connally and possibly other legislative leaders.

The president has been expected in four quarters to outline a definite foreign program in his annual message to be read to congress Saturday.

BRITISH ADVANCE IN THE BURMA THEATRE

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Jan. 4.—(P)—British 14th Army troops have captured positions both north and east of Kanbalu, one of the strongest centers of Japanese resistance remaining in northern Burma, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

Kanbalu lies in the Irrawaddy valley about 100 miles northwest of Mandalay. Enemy forces remaining in the region already have been imperilled by British troops advancing eastward across the Shwabo plain toward the Mandalay railway. The latter troops this week reached the Kand Yee, 30 and 40 miles southwest of Kanbalu.

New Weapons Make Germans Effective Fighting Force

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS

Bern, Jan. 4.—(P)—Information from inside Germany, discounting Nazi propaganda, indicates that German armies equipped with a series of new weapons must be reckoned a fighting force capable of continued effective resistance—perhaps for many months.

Moreover, the Nazis apparently believe they can still win the war by taking advantage of Allied mistakes and difficulties.

While a fluke might end the war tomorrow, or a new Allied offensive might quickly smash massing Nazi forces, it appears (1) that the Germans have sufficient gasoline to carry out their present battle plan; (2) new secret weapons are being turned out steadily in underground factories; and (3) troop reinforcements are still available in large quantity.

Observers in Berlin are convinced the Nazis had far greater underground stores of gasoline than the Allies believed. Synthetic gasoline is still being manufactured, and the Germans need far less fuel for their operations than in the days when the Luftwaffe went out steadily.

These informants believe finally that "V-weapons," being turned out in underground factories in Czechoslovakia as well as in the Reich, now number up to ten. They say a new airplane, ready for use, is shot from the ground like a rocket.

Carrying a crew, it switches to gasoline until approaching the target. Then the plane can use compressed air to permit a silent swoop.

It can switch back to gasoline and land normally. The plane is said to mount two cannons and has a cruising range of about 1,000 miles.

Highway Crews Battle Snow Under Unusual Conditions

Never in the history of Warren and adjacent counties in the snow belt has there been such a road condition as now exists. Machinery owned by the state, county and borough is not heavy enough to successfully battle the huge drifts that have formed in almost every section. The heavy snow fall that took place in December has broken all records and it was announced officially today by U. S. Observer Merrill Jordan that in the borough 35 inches of snow fell in the past month. At the same time the official measurements of the Highway Department made at Lander show 70 inches had fallen on the level there where the gauge was unaffected by the drifts and wind.

Warren Lowe, local head of the Highway Department stated this morning that the crews have been "sloppily" been swamped by the snowfall. Some of the difficulties met

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Over at Beatty school a gang of kids of the town are working to make an ice skating rink. They have labored long and hard, shoveled snow and squirted water and a bunch of them are sporting frozen ears. And all the time along the Conewango creek there is ice and plenty of it. And it all reminds the old-timers that ice skating on the creek was a great winter diversion, with hundreds wheeling around cutting figure eights and doing other sundry and fancy twirls. The lads would clear the ice of snow and every night would flood the spot and the next day and night the fun would be fast and furious. The mill pond also was a favorite place to skate and some of the older Scottish folk did a bit of curling there.

He recounted some of the thrilling trips he made down the hill and Miller of the stunts that "Hi Hi" Miller performed on the steep course that provided plenty of narrow escapes and oodles of fun. "Gib" said he had one of the best sleds in town and that when it came to jumping he didn't take a back seat for anyone on the hill.

Scientist Perfects Penicillin Spray to Treat Infected Lungs

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Correspondent.
Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.,—
"Are you all right?" The woman's voice over the telephone was tense.

On the answer to her question hung the fate of a penicillin experiment which might affect all mankind.

But her concern was for a young colleague, who alone at night in a deserted laboratory was self-strapped into an oxygen mask, pumping penicillin for the first time into human lungs to put his experiment to the crucial test. He was 31-year-old Vernon Bryson, research scientist of the Long Island Biological Laboratory, who one night last June pulled a successful experiment from his test tubes which may chalk up another triumph for the wonder drug.

Proof of its great promise is that this method for inhaling pen-

Laskin, a fellow member of Bryson's at the Long Island Biological Laboratory, where the two young men are engaged in wartime physiological research of a confidential nature.

"If we hadn't hit upon the method of harnessing the new penicillin to an existing technique of inhalational therapy, someone else would have," says Bryson. Ph. D. son of Columbia University's famed Dr. Lyman Bryson, a young man who has been at home in a science lab since the test tubes at San Diego (Cal.) High first caught his fancy.

Although painful modest on the subject of his accomplishment, Bryson, who is youthful looking, dark-eyed and different, did explain in the manner of a science teacher explaining a simple formula the big problem which he and his two colleagues were up against.

"That," he said, after ushering me into his evergreen-framed white cottage overlooking Long Island Sound, "was to see if penicillin could be made into a mist and inhaled without destroying the potency of the drug."

While Dr. Bryson explained how the penicillin was tested out on mice and rabbits to prove that it would penetrate into the lungs, his four stair-step-sized children romped back and forth from the chintz-bright living room where their pop talked, to the kitchen where their lovely blonde mother kept busy cooking their dinner.

"The mice," Bryson said, "were marched into glass testing chambers and exposed to a penicillin mist. Later, when their lung lobes were ground up, penicillin was found to be present." This was the evidence he and his colleagues had set out to get. Additional proof obtained was penicillin recovered in the urine of experimental rabbits.

The new treatment, he explained, is simply applied with a nebulizer—first cousin to an atomizer. Placed directly in the patient's mouth, the penicillin mist is drawn by slow intakes of breath into the lungs while clocked seconds tick.

The man who helped to develop the method insists that the advantage of it over penicillin injected into muscles or veins can be evaluated only after the medical evidence is collected.

But that evidence is piling up. Although not a word could be dragged out of Bryson about these clinical results, it is known that the first patient treated—a discharged Marine whose lung disease of long standing was effecting his icillin is in experimental use in the Huntington Long Island Hospital and in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York City's Columbia—Presbyterian Medical Center. Promising to be a more effective cure for pulmonary diseases, the new method of administering the yellow magic is to have patients drag in into their lungs in a mist of fine particles. This gets bigger doses more directly to infected lung areas.

In developing the method, Bryson had the help of two colleagues. One, whose telephone call on that eventful summer night climaxed a six month's experiment is Eva Sansone, British mycologist of the neighboring Carnegie Institute of Genetics. The other is Sidney

Vienna—In Path of Soviets' Swinging Scythe

Here is the heart of Vienna, capital of Austria, bankrupt symbol of a vanished era of wine, women and Strauss waltzes, now a prime military objective of the Red army's relentless drive through Hungary toward south Germany. The photo was taken when crowds jam-packed the Heldenplatz, on the famed Ringstrasse, to celebrate the anniversary of Anschluss with Nazi Germany. Ironically, atop the tower of the new court house a slogan proclaims "Victory in the West." It was in the classic Greek parliament building on November 12, that Austria was proclaimed a republic.

Shrine Club Has Annual Dinner Meet

The annual meeting of the Warren County Shrine Club was held last evening at the American Legion Home, preceded by a fine musical-candle dinner. Chief item on the menu, the muskie, was provided by W. E. Yeager and son, Bill.

Annual reports of the Zem Zem Hospital in Erie were given and directors named for the coming year: Edward Walker, Donald C. Smith, B. V. Lesser, L. P. Krespan and Hilding Lundahl.

At their organization meeting which followed, directors named these officers: President, Mr. Walker; vice president, Mr. Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Lesser.

A social time followed, with discussion of the approaching annual ceremonial in Erie on Wednesday, January 10.

Obituary

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral home are from 10 a. m. to 12; 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

KARL OLSON

Services in memory of Karl Olson, who died on December 30, were held at Saron Lutheran church in Youngsville on January 1, preceded by a prayer service at the family home at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Nore Gustafson, of Warren, officiated. Bearers were Oscar Bergman, George Peterson, Leo Johnson, Edolph Johnson, Ed Lundgren and John Babcock.

Mr. Olson was born in Olme Varmland, Sweden, on June 3, 1869. He came to this country in 1891 and has resided in Youngsville for the past 53 years.

He was a member of Saron Lutheran church that entire period.

He is survived by his wife, Josephine Marie Olson, and the following children: Mrs. John Christenson and Mrs. Floyd Hetfield, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Charles Johnson, Youngsville; Adolph Olson, Geneseo, N. Y.; Paul and Clara Olson, at home, and William H. Olson, Bradford; also four grandchildren. Besides these, he leaves three sisters in Sweden.

PETER AMACHER

Peter Amacher, husband of Margaret Yagge Amacher, of Galeton, died at one o'clock last evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Mack, at Venturatown. He was born in Berne, Switzerland, on July 17, 1857.

Besides his wife, he leaves the following children: Fred, Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. Mack, Venturatown; Leon A. Renovo; Harold E., Elmira, N. Y.; Howard R., of Warren; also eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Removal has been made to the Peterson Funeral Home, where friends may call at the usual hours. Funeral services will be held from there at 2 p. m. Saturday, with interment in Oakland cemetery.

EARL A. FELLOWS

Services in memory of Earl A. Fellows, 10 Clark street, were held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Adjutant Arthur Brandenburg, of the Salvation Army Corps. Mrs. Summer Ruhlman sang three hymns, "Thou Thinkest, Lord, of Me," "Does Jesus Care?" and "Pass Me Not." Interment was made in Pine Grove cemetery at Russell, with the following serving as bearers: Charles Roberts, Charles Woodley, Harry Fish, Edward Pratt, Garvin Madison and Joseph Schuyler.

Attending the rites from out of town were Harry Fish, Erie; Joseph Schuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fellows, Akeley; Mrs. Kate Lounsbury, Mrs. Jane Fellows, Russell; Mrs. Schuyler, Jamestown, N. Y.

At the opening of the session of congress in Washington this week, Leon Gavin, representative from this district, took his seat for the second time. He was re-elected at the last election by a handsome majority from the 19th District, composed of Warren, Clarion, Venango, Forest, Jefferson and Elk counties. Rep. Gavin during his first term established himself as an aggressive and able representative.

GOES TO WEST COAST

Robert Z. Morrison, Jr., who has been visiting his parents here for the past ten days, left January 2 by motor for Hollywood, Calif., expecting to arrive about the 20th and remain there for six weeks on a business mission. He will then go on to San Francisco, where he will establish and manage an office for the recording division of the National Broadcasting Company. For the past two years Mr. Morrison has been working as accounting executive for National Broadcasting in New York City.

Two Named to Positions In County Today

At a meeting of the Warren county commissioners held this morning in their offices at the court house two of the appointments to the new positions created by the legislature in 1942 were made.

For the office of chief assessor, Donald Schuler was named, with Irene Richwalsky as his deputy. Mr. Schuler will continue to act as chief clerk for the board of commissioners. His deputy has been employed in the commissioners' office for the past five years. Both have been engaged a large share of the time on the assessment work and are familiar with it. There will be no changes in their salary in spite of the added work put on them. Both have accepted.

Lieut. J. D. Benson, of Sheffield, was named as graves registrar, a position also created by the legislature. He will have a salary of $2100 and his expenses. This is a post that will grow in importance as he will be adviser to soldiers and their dependants and will assist them in all work connected in the securing of pensions, allotments, etc.

Further appointments will be made later.

Kiwanis Club Officers Are All Installed

Principal item of business at the Wednesday luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club, held at the Hotel Carver, was installation of officers by Past President Harold D. Baker.

Inducted into office were Dr. J. R. Elliott, as president; Carl W. Peterson, past president; Rev. H. L. Knappenberger, first vice president; C. C. Winans, second vice president; H. T. Flowers, treasurer; T. D. Cook, secretary.

Directors for three years are W. R. Simonsen, Dr. W. E. Biddle and R. E. Johnson; for two years, Everett A. Stoke, Lee Zelders and C. H. Springer; one year, C. L. Guignon, Charles Burnette and F. A. Wood.

Folders containing officers, local and international action committees and a full membership list were distributed to members.

Bus Driver In Hospital After Tough Trip

Eddie Burns, one of the drivers for the Greyhound Lines on the bus run through this city, was removed to an Erie hospital last evening after finally arriving in that city in a drive from Corry that required hours of duty. Burns is said to have a frozen foot and is suffering from exhaustion and other frostbite injuries in addition to the injured foot.

When his bus arrived in Corry from the east Monday night, Burns placed his passengers in Hotel Corry for the night but was forced to remain in his bus under orders which prevent a driver leaving the vehicle unless it can be housed in a garage when such stop-overs are forced enroute.

Tuesday morning, at an early hour, Burns got his passengers loaded and started west from this city. It is understood that he was practically all day in breaking through to Erie and that he arrived there in bad condition, although all of the passengers were said to be safe and to have suffered no ill effects. During the frequent stops on the run to Erie Burns did a lot of work outside in clearing snow and suffered extremely from the low temperature and high wind as well as from over-exertion.

Agents To Meet At Carver House

The Purchasing Agents Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Hotel Carver here this evening.

The 6:30 o'clock dinner will be followed by a business session, after which H. L. Kaness, of the Knox Glass Associates, Inc., will conduct a commodity discussion on containers and their associated product, paper.

H. W. Ledebur, of the Hammond Iron Works, will again lead the commodity discussion on steel.

West Ridge Tries to Open Pittsburgh Line

Supt. William Kribbel, of the local West Ridge bus office, reported today that the company is making efforts to open the Pittsburgh-Buffalo route through this city. This morning a bus was started from Buffalo and one from Pittsburgh. The Buffalo bus was expected in Warren at about the regular time as the roads which it would cover are reported to be open. The bus from Pittsburgh was expected to be some late in arriving in Warren as it was held up for some time in leaving Pittsburgh.

On the Erie-Kane route it was reported that a bus started from Erie but was turned back by the highway department due to the fact that Route 6 was snow-clogged and no traffic could move over it. Accordingly, a bus is being run from Youngsville to Kane and return.

Woman Hurt In Wreck Is at Destination

The report to the effect that Vera Bearfield, 820 Fourth avenue, was injured in the Ogden train wreck was confirmed January 1 by a long-distance call from the Union Pacific Railroad stating she had been hurt and was being sent through to San Francisco.

Mrs. Bearfield is the former Miss Vera Coon, Clearfield. She is the wife of John Bearfield, Jr., this city, who has been in the navy for the past two and one-half years, serving 18 months in the South Pacific.

She left Warren December 28 to go and spend some time with her husband in Berkeley, Calif., when the accident occurred.

A telegram was received January 2 by the family that she arrived safely and was met by her husband. Further news will be received in a letter which follows the telegram.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

MEET IN LONDON
Mrs. Joseph Scheerer is in receipt of a letter from her husband, Capt. Scheerer, telling of his meeting Major F. G. Templeton at a Red Cross center in London, England, and of their very pleasant two-hour visit.

GETS PURPLE HEART
Mrs. Marian Jenkins, Youngsville, has received from her husband, Sgt. Eugene Jenkins, the Purple Heart awarded him for military merit and injuries received in action November 5 somewhere in Belgium. Sgt. Jenkins has been in service two years on January 15 and overseas for 16 months. He is with the quarter-master sales company of the First Army.

HAS HIS WINGS
Cp. Harold R. Hansen is spending a 15-day furlough with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hansen, 21 Clark street. Cpl. Hansen has been stationed in Yuma, Ariz., with AAF and received his gunner's wings on December 17. Following his visit at home, he will receive further training at Lincoln, Neb.

WOUNDED IN GERMANY
Mr. and Mrs. D. Wiles, of Tidoute, have received word that their son, Pfc. Donald D. Wiles, was wounded in action in Germany on December 14.

GETS DECORATION
Mrs. Bruce Geddes, 105 Lookout street, has received from her husband the Purple Heart which was awarded him for wounds received in action in Italy November 3. He writes that he is improving but is still confined to the hospital.

Robert Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Nelson, of Ludlow, has left for Cherry Point, N. C., after a furlough at home with his wife, the former Inella Bulicz.

Lt. Morris Palmer is spending a leave in Ludlow with his family before leaving for the west coast. The Palmers moved to Ludlow from Jackson, Miss., in the late summer.

Lt. Wayne Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson, of Ludlow, is spending some time at home on leave. Lt. Anderson was severely wounded in action and everyone is happy to see him home again.

Cpl. Bert Fowler, of Heavener, Okla., recently spent three days visiting his aunt, Dora Conklin, and family in Youngsville. He has had 42 months in the service, 18 months of which has been overseas. This is his first visit to Pennsylvania and he found here more snow than he had previously seen in all his lifetime. He left for the east coast some days ago to rejoin his ship.

Word has been received by W. F. Schirck, 318 Onondaga avenue, from his son, Cpl. Paul E. Schirck, of his transfer from the Medical Corps in Fort Lewis, Wash., to an infantry unit at Camp Howze, Texas.

Technical Titles Attract Interest at the Public Library

A display of technical titles, presented by the Floridin Company since the instituting of its Technical Book for the Month plan, has been attracting attention daily at the public library. There are 35 varied and authoritative books in the collection.

The importance of the technical section of a public library is being stressed all over the country. At the recent convention of public business librarians in Philadelphia, Dr. M. R. Niefeld, main speaker, stressed the importance of industry and public libraries operating to meet research and general industrial needs. Dr. Niefeld, economist of the Beneficial Management Corporation, in Newark, N. J., and a national authority on consumer credit, considers the public library one of the most powerful factors in the readjustment period following demobilization.

The Warren library keenly felt the need of technical books of an elementary nature, and those which were more advanced, at the time of the last depression. Men crowded into the library, with time to read and study, who had never entered the library before.

An acute need was again felt at the beginning of the nation's industrial defense program, when so many workers were getting their first shop experience. It is important that books of this type should be reliable and up to date. Because they do get out of date and often exceed the price of the usual book purchase, it takes adroit managing to develop the collection and to keep it up to date.

The Floridin Company's plan has shown recognition of the importance of having such a collection available to the public. The consistent plan for each month has resulted in the addition of a wide variety of titles which would otherwise probably not have been added to the collection.

The books will be on special display until the 15th of January. Included are books on welding, chemical engineering, synthetic rubber, aviation, cosmetology, radio, the cyclotron, industrial solvents, plastics, industrial filtration and many other technical subjects. The most recent additions are Snell & Snell's four volume work, Chemistry Made Easy and Harry Barron's Synthetic Rubbers.

Foremen Will Hear Address On Telegraph

"The Centennial of Telegraph" will be the topic of an address to be given to the Warren Foremen's Club next Monday evening, when the organization holds its regular monthly dinner meeting at the Y. M. C. A., beginning at 6:30 p. m. The address will be delivered by J. F. Frazer, district manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

In addition the program will include two very interesting sound motion pictures: "On to Jupiter" and "Speed in Cutting". The committee promises some special entertainment, as well. Altogether a most interesting and informative meeting is indicated. Reservations for the supper are due in the "Y" office no later than Friday night.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS NEED BETTER EYES

ONE of the men in America who has been war production at first hand is Kirk Earnshaw, industrial relations editor of "Modern Industry."

KIRK EARNSHAW

In the past 12 months he has traveled 30,000 miles in visiting industrial plants, large and small, in every major war production area in the country.

From this first-hand observation and experience he has come to the conclusion that neglected vision is one of the great problems of the nation's war production industries. "Bad Eyesight," he says, is a cause of accidents, of spoilage of materials and tools.

"Of even greater importance as a saboteur of the war effort is the effect of bad vision in respect to fatigue, tempers and judgment. Countless personnel men tell me that bad vision—chiefly lack of proper glasses or improper lighting, or both, is a major cause of absenteeism."

"Men and women—particularly those newcomers to industry who are giving their eyes new tasks and new strains—and who have uncorrected visual defects, are the first to complain of excess fatigue, the first to take time off to rest. Actually they are sick—but no pills or rest will cure them. They just need glasses."

"A four-point eyesight program for industry to speed war production," says Mr. Earnshaw, "that I recommend includes: vision tests for every employee, new or old; use of corrective glasses, when their need is indicated by professional ophthalmic service; proper lighting, and the use of safety goggles in every hazardous occupation."

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Jan. 1—The Moriah Lutheran Sunday School presented its Christmas program on Wednesday at 7 p. m. to an appreciative audience. The church was decorated with a tree and candles. The program opened with an organ prelude, followed by the Sunday School procession with "Hark The Herald Angels Sing" being sung by the group and accompanied by the High School Orchestra. "The Song and The Star" by Hilda Marie Benson was used in part for the program. Readers for the program were Margaret Ann Swanson, Shirley Cochran and Alfred Johnson. Several Christmas carols were used with orchestra accompaniment. A saxophone solo, "Under The Stars", by Margaret Brown was given by Thomas Nelson. The entire primary Sunday School appeared on the program, and grades four, five, and six in the Intermediate Department also were on the program. The program was under the direction of Supt. Gustav Olson of the Intermediate Dept. and Supt. Mrs. Leroy Johnson of the Primary Dept. Mrs. Emil Nelson conducted the orchestra on the night of the program. Books were given to children receiving largest donations for the Jamestown Children's Home; Vivian Nelson, Ann Marie Johnson and Delores Johnson. Books were given to those with perfect attendance records: Richard Johnson, four-year attendance; 3 year attendance, Dolores Johnson and Katherine Swanson; 2 year attendance, Freddie Johnson, Joanna Johnson, Alfred Johnson and Alene Johnson; 1 year attendance, John G. Johnson and Edith L. Larson.

Honorable mention was made of Thomas and James Nelson who have missed only one day, and that due to illness during the last five years. Large oranges were given

MEMORIAL FOR PITTSFIELD YOUTH
A memorial service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, January 7, in the Pittsfield United Brethren church for William T. Herrington, fireman first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Herrington, Pittsfield, acknowledged killed in action in the South Pacific. Relatives of the young man and all friends of the family will be welcome.

NEW ASSIGNMENT
Francis J. Benbenek, petty officer second class, who has spent two years in the South Pacific with the SeaBees, has left for Davisville, R. I., for his next assignment, having spent a 35-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benbenek, 929 Stone avenue.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE
Mrs. Grace Swanson, of Russell, has been notified by the War Department that her son, Pvt. Glenn L. Swanson, was wounded in action in Northern France on October 8 and was shipped back to Italy for hospitalization. He is doing nicely at last reports and has been awarded the Purple Heart.

Mrs. Elmer Henry has received a telegram from her son, Sherwood, seaman second class, telling of his safe arrival in Hutchinson, Kans., after spending the holidays at his home in Dunham street, Sheffield.

1st/Sgt. Raymond H. Baughman and his wife, the former Katherine Lawson, came from Avon Park, Fla., and, with Miss Mae Lawson, of Trenton, N. J., were holiday guests of Mrs. Anna Krantz Lawson, 17 West Third avenue.

A/C W. F. Maier, of Greenwood, Miss., was home on a Christmas furlough with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maier, returned to Hlytheville, Ark., to complete his training.

William Stanley Schader, seaman second class, stationed at the naval air training base in Filrod, is spending a ten-day leave with Mr. and Mrs. C. Schader, Cobham Park road, and extends a happy "hello" to all his friends.

Word has been received here that Pvt. Paul A. Eaton, who recently graduated from the U. S. Army parachute school at Fort Benning, Ga., has been moved to Fort Ord, Calif. Since first graduating from the paratroopers school in October, Pvt. Eaton has had six weeks additional training at the same station. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eaton, of Buffalo, N. Y., formerly of Warren.

Swedish and English Christmas Carols were used. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Johnson and Richard Johnson served lunch to the group after the carols had been enjoyed for some time.

Communion services were held on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock in Moriah Lutheran with sixty-six participating in the Lord's Supper. The Rev. Hans Pearson officiated.

Vesper services were held in the Covenant Mission church on Sunday evening with the Rev. Wilbert Nylund of Kane conducting the service.

Scout News

The Ludlow Boy Scout Board of Review was held on Tuesday evening, Dec. 26, at the Scout rooms and was conducted by Adolph Johnson, and Homer Gilfert. The following were promoted to second class: Robert Paul, Virgil Nelson, Alfred Johnson, Donald Federko, and George Ciprich; to first class: James Nelson and Kent Swanson; to Life Scout, Nick Kulka and James Christenson. Homer Gilfert, Scoutmaster, reported that 88 per cent of Troop 50 passed a rank during the year, which is a wonderful record.

These old clothes, Mrs. Walter Cox, chairman of Ludlow Girl Scouts, recently announced that over 600 pounds of clothing was sent to the Russian Relief. In Ludlow, we feel this is a splendid achievement made by the Senior Scouts and their leader, Miss Helen Franz. These same Scouts held a Christmas party on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 16, for very young friends who enjoyed Santa's visit and his stockings packed with small gifts. These small children also loved the games and lunch served later. The girls were divided into committees who planned the affair under the direction of Scout Leader Franz.

The Intermediates held a Christmas supper on Friday night, Dec. 22, at the home of their leader, Mrs. George Anderson, and exchanged Christmas gifts later. There was much fun for all. Later in the evening, these girls accompanied by some Senior Girl Scouts, wandered through the town caroling. This is a splendid gesture and one which everyone enjoys and appreciates.

The Brownies held a Christmas party at the home of their leader, Mrs. George Anderson, on Tuesday, Dec. 19th. All of the sixteen members were present and enjoyed games and the exchange of gifts later. Mrs. Anderson and her assistant, Mrs. Albert Carlson, and their helper, Carol Carr.

WAC TRAINEES ARE PARTY GUESTS

On Monday evening a delightful party was given at the home of Mrs. Eugene Nelson, 409 Lincoln avenue, for the Misses Mildred Kirberger and Lucille Schumann, who left Tuesday to begin their basic training at the Third WAC Center at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

After an evening of games and cards, a buffet luncheon was served. The honored guests were presented with purses of money from the following: Mrs. Phyllis Sharp, Mrs. Margaret Caldwell, Mrs. Joyce Albaugh, Mrs. Gen. Clark, Mrs. Alice Kirberger, Mrs. Edward Highhouse, Mrs. Ruth Kammer, Mrs. Jeanette Eldridge, Gladys Kirberger, Mary Kirberger, Miriam Gordon, Vera Gordon, Jaye Massa, Rheda Rulander, Jeanne Highhouse, with Ernestine Schumann, of Ashland, Ky., out of town guest.

REOPENS STUDIO

Byron Swanson, teacher of voice in the Warren Conservatory of Music, reopened his studio today after returning from New York City, where he continued work with Evan Evans, head of the voice department of the Juilliard Graduate School. In addition, Mr. Swanson studied with William S. Brady, one of New York's prominent older teachers and protégé of such great vocalists as Lill Lehman and Oscar Saenger.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Women of the Moose met last evening at eight o'clock with senior regent, Augusta Anderson, in charge. Anna Stigelmer was in charge of the luncheon at six, which was followed by an executive meeting at 7:30 o'clock. Mary Teconchuck and Bertha Sweeting won the attendance awards. The next meeting has been postponed until January 24th, when an official visitor is expected.

REBEKAH LODGE PARTY AND MEETING

The public is invited to the card party to be held at 8 p. m. Friday by Lady Warren Rebekah Lodge, when there will be bridge and five hundred prizes for both men and women and the committee will serve lunch. Vera Wood is in charge of arrangements.

The regular lodge meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. and, in the afternoon, members will meet in the social rooms to sew for soldiers.

TELL OF ENGAGEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. William Printz, 3406 Beechwood avenue, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lt. (j. g.) Dorothy C. Printz, USNR, to George Wholeben, of Warren.

Lt. Printz, stationed in Washington, was home on leave over the holiday period and her parents held open house at their home on New Year's Day in compliment to her.

ATTENDS ANNUAL
Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, head of the Warren Conservatory of Music, has returned from New York, where he attended the annual meeting of the American Matthey Association, Inc., of which he was formerly a vice president. Dr. Campbell is a pupil of Tobias Matthey, of London, for whom the American unit was founded in 1925.

MUCH SEWING FOR HOSPITAL AUXILIARY
Colder weather and increased patient census at Warren General Hospital combine to make more imperative the need of much sewing and mending for the institution and all members and interested friends are asked to be on hand for the business and work meeting of the Women's Auxiliary at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

BPV MEETING
Members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club are reminded that standing reservations for the January dinner-meeting on Tuesday must be cancelled no later than Friday of this week if they are unable to be present. Miss Ethel Patchen is chairman of the committee.

RESUME REHEARSALS
Senior choir rehearsals at First Methodist church will be resumed this evening, following a Christmas vacation, and all are asked to be on hand promptly at 7:15.

FIDELIS CLASS
Fidelis Class members of Epworth Methodist church will be entertained at 8 p. m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Harold Richael, Hemlock street.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — In "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" John Hodiak has the kind of "entrance" actors dream about. For considerably more than half the picture, other players are talking about him and little else. The plot centers mainly on whether he, as the soldier, will or will not show up for the dinner.

After the long build-up, many an actor would disappoint when he actually appeared. Hodiak has the strength and honesty to fill the bill. In real life, too, he's that way, which is probably why he can project a character convincingly.

Hodiak's entrance into pictures was somewhat less spectacular, unaided by a script. He was working in radio, doing soap operas, announcements and routine chores when he made a screen test with Canada Lee, the Negro actor. M-G-M signed Hodiak as a possibility, lost him in its list of stock actors. For months he did nothing, then played sundry bits. Then at 20th Century-Fox Alfred Hitchcock began casting "Lifeboat." He needed a Negro character, and he heard that M-G-M had a test of Canada Lee. When he saw it, he signed both Lee and Hodiak—and M-G-M had a new star in its lap.

FOR 20 years Hodiak, who will be 31 soon, has been dreaming of the success he now is attaining. As a boy he haunted Detroit movie houses. The late Doug Fairbanks was his idol, and he saw some of Doug's films five or six times. He thrilled also to westerns and to serials. "My dad gave me 20 cents a week," he recalls, "but that wasn't enough for my movie needs. So I collected junk metal, melted it for the lead, and sold that."

Hodiak's father and mother are with him now. His father, as John will tell you proudly, is a laborer and intends to keep on working—in a war plant. His mother will not be really happy here until she can start a garden and keep chickens. Hodiak, for them, refused to adopt a fancy movie name. He wanted Mamma to be able to say "That's my boy" when she saw him on the screen. Hodiak is of Ukrainian descent, and Ukrainian fans write many letters lauding his loyalty to his name.

TURNED down at first for radio because of his accent, Hodiak turned his job with a motor company into dictation lessons. He had to read long columns of figures for checking, and he read them aloud. Next time he auditioned, he was in.

He started at $35 a week, $10 less than he was making in his old job. Today, in pictures, he makes about the same as his best radio earnings, no more. His name has gone up in lights with Talulah Bankhead's and Lana Turner's, and will be with Gene Tierney's in "A Bell for Adano," but his salary was caught in the freeze.

"I do not care," he says. "I do the best job I can in every picture. I like to act; I think acting is important work; I am not doing it just for the money."

STREAMLINED SHELLS
Streamlining the back end of artillery shells in the manner of airplane bombs would be a useless procedure. Such projectiles travel faster than sound, and thus, air cannot flow behind them.

STEEL VS. WOOD
A fire lighted in a steel rubbish can rose only two feet above the top, while flames from the same type of fire in a wooden barrel jumped nine feet, in a recent test.

The General Education Board, which does most of its work in southern states, was incorporated by Congress in 1903.

SOCIETY NEWS

Coming On Tuesday

The gypsies on the parapet outside the castle's secret room while away their time in a merry dance while they await the solution of the plot in "The Prince's Secret," coming here on Tuesday afternoon as a Clare Tree Major attraction.

Everyone will want to try and solve the plot of "The Prince's Secret," the young people's mystery play which is being presented by the Clare Tree Major Players next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Dick Rapp, young Warren actor with the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre, will play the title role. This should be a real treat for Warren people who have wanted to see the talented young player. The manager has spoken very highly of Dick's work, in a long distance call to Mrs. Walter Mathyer, president of the Community P.T.A. Council, which is sponsoring the children's play.

Mrs. Mathyer stated yesterday that this fast-moving mystery play should appeal to the Beaty school and high school young people, as well as the younger boys and girls. The scene of the play is laid in the palace of Prince Ramon of Castilla. There is an excellent scene also in the gypsies' camp. The cast includes 15 talented players, who all contribute to the color and excitement of the play.

There are no tickets left for the afternoon performance; but tickets may still be secured for the evening. They may be had at any of the schools, from Mrs. Walter Mathyer, or from Mrs. Virgil Kitterner. Adults will also be admitted to the evening performance. All these plays are held in the high school auditorium. A large number of boys and girls come in to the plays from other parts of the county. Curtain time is four o'clock in the afternoon and seven o'clock in the evening.

ROAD COMPANY IS BEHIND SCHEDULE

Mrs. Walter Mathyer, president of the P.T.A. Council, was advised in a wire which came this morning from Mrs. Clare Tree Major that storm conditions have delayed her road company schedule and it will be impossible to get to Warren Monday for the presentation of "The Prince's Secret," starring Richard Rapp, local player. The play has been changed to Tuesday afternoon and evening if there are no further severe storms but ticket holders are advised to watch this paper for possible announcement of further change.

Boys' Cage League Starts On Saturday

The Boys Basketball League of the YMCA will get under way on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The league will be composed of boys ranging in age from 13 to 16 years.

It is planned to limit the league roster to four teams so that every team will get an opportunity to play every Saturday. There will be two games played every Saturday afternoon. The first game will start at 2 o'clock and the second game at 3 o'clock.

A meeting of all the boys interested in playing in the league has been called by Lloyd Shirk, program secretary of the YMCA, for Friday, January 5, at 4 o'clock. The schedule will be drawn up at this meeting and the boys who are not signed up with a team will be placed on a team at that time.

All boys who want to play in the league are urged to attend the meeting. However, if a boy cannot be present at the meeting on Friday he should send in his name so that he can be placed on a team.

ZIVIC MAY END LONG RING CAREER FRIDAY

New York, Jan. 4.—(P)—Ring-wise Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh may finally end his 14-year-old ring career tomorrow night when he fights up-and-coming Billy Arnold of Philadelphia in a 10-round at Madison Square Garden.

The 31-year-old campaigner, now a corporal at Normyley Field, Tex., explained army doctors plan to operate on his nose next month. He is on a 15-day furlough from his Texas base.

ANTS FLAVORED SALAD

West Coast American Indians to flavor their "miner's lettuce" placed the plant near a nest of red ants. The salad acquired a vinegar taste from the formic acid left by the ants running over the leaves.

Behind the Lines and Under the Covers

When you read this I will be home. A hospital is a nice place to have your surplus aches and pains removed and to rest up for a while but I don't think I would care for it as a steady diet. However, I am lucky. When you get to looking around and see the people who have been there for a long, long time and who will be there for quite a while yet, you begin to appreciate that health is a mighty nice thing to have. This body of ours clicks pretty well as long as we take a decent amount of care for it but it is just like any other machine—you can't put mud in the crankcase and sand in the gears without causing the thing to go haywire. Good health is very easy to keep—and it is also very easy to lose. So, how about one New Year's resolution that we'll all stick to—that each of us will be a little more careful about our own health.

It would be the depth of ingratitude if I didn't give my heartfelt thanks to the nurses who were so kind and considerate and who did everything possible to make me comfortable and contented... to the Nurses Aides who filled in so wonderfully when the regular staff was so rushed and overworked... to the dietitian and the cooks for swell meals, even if I did think for a while that gingerale was the only thing they served... to the dozens of folks who sent cheery greetings, boxes of candy and salted nuts, books and magazines and flowers and who dropped in to say "hello"...

... to the Times-Mirror people who did my own work in addition to their own... and to those half-dozen people who kept right on reading "Behind the Lines" while I was under the covers. What a dreary world it would be without friends.

The gang was out on the cement court back of Beatty school last night working to get the place flooded so there would be good ice for skating. When a group like this gets together and decides that something is going to be done the chances are it will be done. Those Christmas skates are going to get a workout yet.

Be sure you drop in at the Y. M. C. A. tonight for the basketball games. And on Friday night why not do the same to see the Girls' Basketball League in action? It will be worth your time and might turn you into a regular customer.

Tomorrow night the High School Dragons travel to Bradford for a heavy favorite to cop this encounter and the locals will have

FORGED DOCUMENTS ON TWO SABOTEURS

New York, Jan. 4.—(P)—Forged documents bearing 1946 dates, found in the possession of two alleged Nazi saboteurs landed on the Maine coast, appeared to indicate today the possibility that the German high command expects the war to go into next year.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation made public one document, a draft board classification marked "local board No. 18, Suffolk County, 419 Boylston street, Boston, Mass." It carried the postal cancellation, "Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 7 p. m., 1946."

MACLEISH CALLS FOR WIDER FLOW OF NEWS

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Archibald MacLeish, in his first speech as assistant secretary of state, called today for a wider and deeper flow of world news.

Addressing a centennial meeting of the United Nations Information Board, MacLeish said in a prepared speech:

"This nation has believed from the beginning of its history in the right of the people to know. It has declared that right in the first amendment to its constitution. It believes that if the people are informed, the decisions of the people will be wise."

As assistant secretary of state, MacLeish is charged with responsibility for state department public relations.

Famous 101st Sky Troopers Battle to Stop Violent Nazi Attacks in Bastogne Area

German positions were heavily mined and dug in all around the bulge.

German forces below the Saarland, by no means halted, advanced to four miles in northern Lorraine southeast of Sarreguemines. Supreme headquarters disclosed that the enemy had penetrated to Gros Roderching and Achen, four miles south of Bleisburch which was lost yesterday.

The foe crossed the Blies river ane south of Habkirchen, where artillery interrupted the thrust. Pressure eased somewhat south and southeast of Blitche, where Nazi advances had ranged up to five miles.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' resilient First Army with tanks and tank-killing infantry surged ahead across the snow-covered terrain south of Rochefort, engulfing two villages about three miles below the town in the extreme nose of the bulge.

The First Army was backtracking the ground painfully lost in the German December offensive. In the Grandmenil area where the greatest potential threat was posed against the 20 divisions of Field Marshal von Rundstedt's three armies in the bulge, supreme headquarters said resistance was stiff but that "good progress was being made."

Hidges uncorked his offensive early Wednesday in a bitter blizzard.

with during the battle with the snow have endangered the men at work. One crew of a truck equipped with a snow plow had a break down in the truck on a deserted stretch of road and sought shelter in the cellar of a tumble down house. It was on Tuesday morning and the men built a fire from debris of the old house and sheltered from the wind spent the night there. They walked in the following morning. Another crew bucked a huge drift and finally broke through making a tunnel with the snow over the cab of the truck.

Yesterday three army trucks with drivers arrived in the city to aid the highway department in the work of clearing the roads. The trucks do not have front wheel drive and are being used to carry men afield, carry gasoline and bumpers have been placed on them so that they can be used to push the heavy trucks used on the plows. Several other army trucks went on to Erie county to aid the work there.

"We are just doing the best we can," said Mr. Lowe this morning. "We will get the roads clear some day if the storm ever lets up. In the meantime we are endeavoring to keep the main highways open and have every truck, bull dozer and tractor in the county that we can get hired and at work. It is a stupendous task. The state sent men in here early this week to look the situation over and is affording all possible help. Rotary plows might get some of the roads open but with the fresh snow and winds the drifts form almost as rapidly as the roads are opened. One big plow bucked out a road and then had to plow itself out again as the snow had drifted in behind it."

One peculiar feature of the situation is that the river has overflowed the road at several points between Sugar Run and Corydon. Ice and slush formed on the riffles below the point has backed up the river. It is thought this is due to the low water in the river at the present time. There is not enough water going over the riffles to carry the slush and ice. The driver of an army truck carrying German War Prisoners from the Red Bridge camp to a point near Scandia thought the ice formed on the road would carry the truck and started over it. The truck broke through into about two feet of water and had to have another truck pull it out.

In the borough the light equipment owned by the borough is being used to the best possible advantage but with conditions as they are in securing any lasting results is being met with. Street Commissioner Beck is using all possible equipment and last night worked a crew of men throughout the night on some of the side streets.

The shortage of man power is also being felt by the State Highway Department and also in the city and men are urgently needed by both departments to aid in the fight.

Continued cold is predicted for tonight over this section. Snow flurries are also promised. Many are fearful that should a thaw follow this storm period that one of the greatest floods in history would be felt in the Allegheny valley. Recently the water at Pittsburgh rose to within a few feet of flood stage but was held down by the flood control dams that were in use or flood stage would have been registered.

Chapter 13.
SHE had telephoned the house and Cooper had assured her he would have a bag for her and be at the train when she reached the station. Hugh had not been in the office when she had telephoned, and so she had had to leave a message.

She drove to the station, parked her little car and hurried on to the platform, just as she heard the train entering the cut a mile above the town. Cooper came swiftly to meet her, and a moment later Hugh leaped out of his car and came hurrying to her across the platform, puzzled and frowning.

"Hi, what's all this?" he demanded, taking in the packed bag in Cooper's hand and the ticket in Meredith's. "Running out on me, eh?"

"I have to go away for a few days, darling--on hospital business," she told him, her heart sinking a little as the train thundered closer. "I can't tell you about it now. If it works out wrong--" Her voice broke a little and Hugh caught her close and rested his cheek against hers.

"Want me to go along, sweet?" he asked her quickly.

"Of course," she told him instantly. "I always want you to go along anywhere I go, but this time you mustn't darling. You've got a job here, and I've got a job, for a little while, somewhere else. This is Dr. Blake's job, dearest."

HUGH looked down at her, his face set.

"There are times when I could find it in my heart not to be overly fond of Dr. Blake," he admitted, as the train was sliding to its brief, almost momentary halt. "But I'm crazy in love with Mrs. Hugh Prather. Suppose Dr. Blake could keep her reminded of that?"

"It's a fact Dr. Blake will never forget--nor will Mrs. Prather."

Chapter 14.
MAJOR STEPHENSON waited, as though he understood by long custom and personal experience, as the train was sliding to its brief, almost momentary halt. "But I'm crazy in love with Mrs. Hugh Prather. Suppose Dr. Blake could keep her reminded of that?"

"It's a fact Dr. Blake will never forget--nor will Mrs. Prather."

she told him. Then she kissed him hard and pulled away from his arms that let her go so reluctantly as the whitecoated Pullman porter helped her up the steps.

She paused there, as the train began to move, and looked back at him, and there were tears in her eyes, though she smiled and waved to him.

In Atlanta, she reached the airport a few minutes before the big plane was to take off.

And almost before the powerful liner had lifted from the runway, Meredith had put everything out of her mind but the thought of River Gap, and what it would mean to the town and its people should poor Jerry Butler prove to be the source of this evil, mysterious malady that had already taken one life and stood an excellent chance of taking more.

She shivered at the thought of an epidemic and how swiftly it might spread, with none of the doctors knowing enough about it to be able to combat it effectively.

WHEN she stepped from the plane in Washington, and looked about her, somewhat confused by the crowds and the noise of a busy young lieutenant with a familar staff and expert insignia of the Medical Corps saluted her smartly and said pleasantly, "Dr. Meredith Blake, of River Gap?"

Surprised, Meredith looked at him, and said quickly, "Yes, but how did you know?"

The young man smiled, and said, "Oh, Major Stephenson had a long distance call from your Dr. Nichols last night, and was given an inch-by-inch description of you, which, taken in connection with the time of the arrival of your plane, made it not too difficult for me to recognize you. I'm to take you to Major Stephenson immediately, if you don't mind."

She found Major Stephenson in his private office. There were three other men with him, two in hospital whites, one in a well-tailored uniform with the familiar medical insignia, and the silver bars of a captain on his shoulders.

Major Stephenson greeted her with warm friendliness, introducing her to his colleagues. As he presented the younger man, he said, "This is Captain Gordon, who will be going south with you, Doctor. You and he should become friends."

"I'm sure we shall," said Meredith politely, liking the man's pleasantly rugged face and his friendly grin. Then she gasped, as the full force of what Major Stephenson had said swept over her. "He will be going south with me?"

Major Stephenson nodded, his face tired and a trifle drawn. "There's no doubt in all our minds that the fever was brought to your town by this discharged soldier." He let her have it in one blow. "The germ is dormant in his bloodstream. It may never develop into malignancy with him, but he carries the seeds, and anyone who comes in contact with him is liable to an infection. As Dr. Nichols pointed out over the telephone when I talked to him last night, the patients who have so far developed the disease are in a weak, undernourished condition--a ideal material for this devilish germ to feed on. But there is, of course, the imminent danger that the germ will grow more virulent, and that it may even develop sufficiently to affect this soldier himself; and an epidemic would rage in your little town that would be a veritable plague."

MEREDITH shivered and gripped her hands tightly together. She couldn't speak. Major Stephenson, looking at her quickly, smiled and said, "So you're a woman, as well as a doctor, are you? You can't separate your emotions from your job! That's going to make it a very difficult profession, I'm afraid--but it will also make you a finer doctor, so maybe it's worth it."

It chilled her a little to realize that all this meant that her mission was considered of extreme importance; which meant, also, that the danger to River Gap was also great.

The car raced from the airport to town, and through a maze of streets that Meredith did not recall, to an impressive looking hospital building along the banks of the Potomac.

Lieutenant Evans guided her up the steps, along a wide, cool corridor and eventually to a door, where he stopped and knocked. He paused a moment and then opened the door, standing aside to say, as he saluted smartly, "Dr. Meredith Blake, sir."

MEREDITH stepped past him, the door closed, and she was alone with the tall, gray-haired man who rose from behind a narrow desk, to smile at her. A man who might have been blood brother, she decided in that first instant of meeting, to Jonathan Blake and Dr. Nichols, a man whose tailored army uniform fitted his tall, rather spare body a trifle loosely, as though he had lost weight since it had been fitted, a man whose eyes were tired, whose lean, brown face was almost haggard, but who greeted her with a warm, friendly smile and a firm handshake, as he motioned her to a chair.

"I suppose I should apologize for having you rushed straight here from the airport, Dr. Blake," he said, and his tone was warm and genial, but very tired. "It was simply that Dr. Nichols impressed upon me the tremendous importance of your mission. And by the way, I am to give you a message. The Hayden woman died this morning. And another case of the fever has been brought into the hospital."

"I thank you, sir," said Meredith faintly.

Major Stephenson cleared his throat and went on briskly, in a manner quite military. "Now the government maintains a hospital on an island in the Caribbean. I'm afraid it's rather a hush-hush project, in a way. It's for the study and treatment of just such damnable little germs as this poor devil has brought back with him. Research foundation for the study of tropical diseases, with the patients themselves helping in every way they can. There is so little time--and so much to be done!"

He sighed and ran his fingers through his thinning hair. The gesture was so like Jonathan's that it brought a lump to her throat.

"This man must be taken to the hospital immediately," said Major Stephenson, after a moment. "Captain Gordon here will fly south with you. If the patient shows any disinclination to take the treatment, Captain Gordon will handle that angle."

"He won't," said Meredith swiftly. "Poor Jerry! It will just about break his heart to know that he has innocently and unwillingly brought about this terrible thing. But he is in love; he wants to be married in the spring; he wants children."

THE three men in the room cleared their throats and Major Stephenson said under his breath, "The poor young devil!" But aloud he said quietly, "The important thing is to get him there as quickly as possible."

"Yes," said Meredith huskily. "As quickly as possible."

Major Stephenson went on. "There's a military plane leaving within an hour, carrying some officer personnel to a southern base on an inspection trip. I've wangled seats for you and Captain Gordon."

Major Stephenson said unexpectedly, "Dr. Blake, how would you like to go down to this island hospital for a few months and study the work we are doing down there?"

FAMOUS 101ST SKY TROOPERS BATTLE TO STOP VIOLENT NAZI ATTACKS IN BASTOGNE AREA

Field Marshal von Rundstedt Reinforces Threatened Southern Flank to Ten Divisions and Sends 100 Tanks Into Terrific Conflict

ENEMY CASUALTIES ARE ESTIMATED AT 60,000

BULLETIN

Paris, Jan. 4.—(P)—American First Army infantry and tanks fought three miles forward in the new offensive against the north flank of the Belgian bulge by 8 a. m. and continued the advance today through a blinding snowstorm, it was disclosed at supreme headquarters.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, Jan. 4.—(P)—The U. S. First Army passed its initial objectives today in a powerful new offensive into the north flank of the German bulge below Grandmenil, capturing an unidentified village and key high points during a blinding snowstorm against stiffening tank opposition.

Some 15 miles or so to the south, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army advance was halted at least temporarily by violent German counter-attacks north and northeast of Bastogne against the famous 101st Airborne Division. Field Marshal von Rundstedt built his southern flank force to 10 divisions.

Persistent German attacks from the Saar to the Rhine, however, had forced the Americans from their holdings in the German Palatinate east of the Wissembourg gap and from all except the Sauerland bridgehead in the Saarland.

13th Straight Day Attack Over Reich

London, Jan. 4.—(P)—German reports of Allied bombers approaching from the south, apparently U. S. 15th Air Force Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Italy, heralded the 13th straight daylight attack on the Reich today.

Up until noon there was no warning of bomber formations invading Germany from the west—a sign that the weather might be halting the record winter string of 12 consecutive days of raids by the U. S. Eighth Air Force from Britain.

Snow, rain and leaden skies prevented operations yesterday by aircraft based in France, Belgium and Holland. Bombers flying from Britain had to drop their explosives through a heavy overcast.

In the past 12 days the eighth Air Force flew 18,000 sorties and unloaded 26,000 tons of bombs on German objectives, principally forward positions near the western front, a U. S. army announcement said. The assault was complemented by the RAF with both day and night attacks.

Late yesterday British four-engined Lancasters and Halifaxes bombed two German fuel plants near Dortmund in the Ruhr and long range messages carried the attacks through the night with raids on scattered objectives in western Germany.

Axis Still Holds Offensive Power

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the Germans still hold enough power to launch another, though smaller, offensive on the western front.

The Germans, he told his weekly news conference, are a "tough, disciplined enemy" and will "never rest on a passive defense."

Speaking of German activity on the Seventh Army front in the region of the Saar, Stimson said it remains to be seen whether that was a probe or intended as a sizeable attack.

From the beginning of the German attack on Dec. 16 through Dec. 30 a total of 22,430 German prisoners were taken, Stimson said. Turning to the Pacific, the secretary sounded a warning similar to that regarding German power.

Shoppers Swell Store Coffers To an All-Time High in 1944

Cleveland, Jan. 4.—(P)—Christmas shoppers swelled department store coffers to an all-time high in 1944, the Federal Reserve Bank said today in its monthly business review.

In its report covering the Fourth district—Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky—the review said:

"Fourth district department stores have just experienced the greatest dollar volume of Christmas business in their history."

The review attributed this to the greatly increased wartime incomes and the higher prices of retail gift merchandise.

Industrial production fell about seven per cent of the 1935-39 average because of contract cancellations, necessary revisions of war production schedules and a drastic manpower shortage, the report stated.

Most war production quotas have been met without serious curtailment of civilian standards, the report said.

Although steel production totals for the first 11 months of 1944 exceeded output for the same period last year, the industry's percentage capacity has been lower since April. This was caused by manpower shortages and cut-backs in military requirements, the report said.

Sen. Taylor Does Not Play His Banjo in Vain

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Senator Glen Taylor (D-Ia.), got results from his musical plea to a place to live in crowded Washington.

The one time "singing cowboy" said today he had received "25 or 30 offers" for lodgings since he gathered his family about him on the capitol steps yesterday, strummed his banjo and sang:

"Oh, give us a home near the capitol dome . . ."

The Taylors have temporary accommodations at a hotel.

NAZIS TRY TO BREAK SIEGE AT BUDAPEST

First German Counter Offensive on East Front Since Oct. Seeks to Pierce Red Lines

SOVIETS YIELD GROUND

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Jan. 4.—(P)—Mobile warfare raged between Budapest and Vienna today as a huge German tank and infantry force, mounting the first German counter-offensive on the eastern front since October, sought to break through Russian lines to the relief of the surrounded garrison in the Hungarian capital.

In the last two days the Russians had given ground and it was probable that more would have to be yielded, although the Russians appeared to be getting the situation in hand.

The German counter-attack was sprung from the area of Komarom, a Danube river town 45 miles northwest of Budapest.

The German-Hungarian garrison in Budapest, where the Russians have overrun 1,062 city blocks, was reported making savage attacks in an effort to break out toward the relieving force.

Nearly a third of the eastern section of the capital was in Soviet hands, an additional 200 blocks having been captured in the last 24 hours.

The exact time the Germans launched their counter-attack in the Komarom area has not been disclosed.

A heavy German thrust was thrown at Russian artillery positions. A Red Star dispatch said the artillery line had been forced back by German tanks southeast of the city, but it did not state the extent of the withdrawal. The official account said merely that the Russians had given up several populated points along the southern bank of the Danube.

The most recent official accounts of the advance on Komarom had placed Russian elements 10½ miles east of the city.

The German air force has been giving increasing support to the attacking armor and infantry.

Quick Okay Expected Of Appointments

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—A quick senate okay appeared in prospect today for President Roosevelt's latest nominations to high administration posts.

Both Republicans and Democrats applauded the selection of Guy M. Gillette, their former colleague, for the surplus property board.

Gillette, 55-year-old Iowa Democrat, was defeated for re-election last fall. With senate confirmation, he will join former Governor Robert A. Hurley of Connecticut and Lieut. Col. Edward H. Heller of San Francisco, who were confirmed last session after a sharp senate debate, on the Surplus Property Board. The members will supervise disposal of possibly $100,000,000 worth of surplus war plants and property—and draw $12,000 a year salary.

Likewise, no criticism was heard of the nomination of Harry D. White, 52, to be assistant secretary of the treasury.

Some Republicans were critical of the nomination of Paul A. Porter, 40-year-old newspaperman and Democratic publicity chief during last year's campaign, to be a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

However, there was no indication the Republicans would make an organized fight against the nomination, which the Interstate Commerce Committee will consider Monday.

Committee action on the other nominations will also probably wait until next week.

SALVAGE COLLECTIONS 170 LBS. PER PERSON

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—(P)—Salvage of war-vital paper, tin cans, rags, used fats, and iron and steel scrap in Pennsylvania during the first 11 months of 1944 amounted to 170 pounds per person, the state Defense Council's Salvage Committee reported.

Warren R. Roberts, salvage chairman, said yesterday the per capita collections were: Paper, 105 pounds; iron and steel scrap, 56 pounds; rags, four pounds; tin cans, three pounds; and used fats, two pounds.

ERIE OFFICE REORGANIZES

Erie, Jan. 4.—(P)—Thomas H. Schaefer was elected chairman yesterday of the Erie county board of commissioners, succeeding N. Dell Darling.

Pay Tribute to Local Ration Boards Friday

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—(P)—Governor Martin asked Pennsylvania communities to honor members of local War Price and Ration Boards tomorrow on the third anniversary of their creation.

The board members, the governor said in a statement, have worked "at considerable personal sacrifices and without compensation to assist in the effort to make fair distribution of war scarce commodities at fair prices."

Casualties Through Dec. Total 638,139

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Exclusive of the bitter German counter-offensive, American combat casualties through Dec. 31 totaled 638,139. This was an increase of 9,698 over the total announced last week for the period through December 14.

Secretary of War Stimson told a news conference the war department has not yet received an accurate statement of personnel and material losses resulting from the Nazi drive launched December 16. He added it will be some time before a report is available.

Army casualties totaled 556,352 through December 31, an increase of 8,529, and the navy's total was 81,787, a rise of 1,169.

The army's figures reported today and those reported last week follow:

Killed, 105,991 and 102,961; wounded, 326,127 and 319,935; missing, 65,567 and 65,762; prisoners of war, 59,667 and 59,165.

Comparable figures for the navy:

Killed, 31,332 and 31,182; wounded, 35,997 and 35,942; missing, 9,277 and 9,010; prisoners of war, 4,481 and 4,484. The decrease in the prisoner of war category apparently represented shifts to other classifications.

MESSAGE MAY BE PUT ON AIR IN PERSON

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—President Roosevelt is thinking of driving his annual message home to the American people Saturday by submitting it to congress and then putting it on the air in person.

That's the procedure he followed last year. He sent the "State of the Union" message to Capitol Hill at noon, Jan. 11, then read it almost word for word over the radio the same night.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt will take another spin around the same course Saturday hasn't been determined finally, partly because the message has not been finished.

Canadians Inflict Heavy Casualties

Rome, Jan. 4.—(P)—Canadian troops have captured the village of Conventello, two miles east of Alfonsine on the Ravenna-Ferrara highway after inflicting heavy casualties on picked German forces, Allied headquarters announced today.

Approximately 100 prisoners were taken in the advance.

American artillery broke up four sharp enemy raids in the area of San Anasario, just west of highway nine, four miles below Bologna. At the same time the Germans continued their recently adopted tactics of trying to ambush American patrols feeling out enemy positions.

In the right sector of the American Fifth Army front, German artillery laid down a rocket barrage followed by a series of raids in the vicinity of Monte Deliverrero and Sillare ridge, but were repulsed after making contact with our forces.

SUCCESSOR TO ROSS WILL BE DEMOCRAT

Harrisburg, Jan. 4.—(P)—Governor Martin is expected to name a Democrat as auditor general to complete F. Clair Ross' term expiring April 30.

Martin, a Republican, said yesterday he thought it fair to give the office to a Democrat because "that's the will of the people."

Ross, who won a superior court seat in the Democratic sweep last November, will take over his new post the middle of January.

RAILROAD CHIEF DIES

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(P)—John Lansing Beven, 57, who spent his entire working career of almost 45 years with the Illinois Central Railroad, advancing to its presidency in 1938, died unexpectedly last night aboard his office car in Clinton, Ill. Coronary thrombosis was given as the cause of death. Beven, regarded as "a railroad man's president," left his native home of McComb, Miss., at the age of 13 to become a messenger boy in New Orleans for the Illinois Central.

Leader of 1922 Revolution Takes Over the Burden of Premiership of Greece Today

By STEPHEN BARBER

Athens, Jan. 4.—(P)—Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, leader of the 1922 revolution, took over the burdened premiership of Greece today with the declaration that the first task was "full restoration of the state's authority."

It was understood that he planned to make a further appeal today to rebellious left-wing ELAS to lay down their arms. No representative of the ELAS is in the new cabinet, but the new foreign minister, John Sofianopolous, was a possible link with the faction.

Lt. Gen. R. M. Scobie's communique told of continued warfare. It reported that British troops were making "good progress" in clearing armed leftists from further areas in central Athens, east of Athens, in Piraeus and sectors south of the Athens-Piraeus road.

Plastiras himself retained four important posts in addition to the premiership, assuming the war, navy, air and merchant marine portfolios. ELAS leaders previously had been reported insisting that they should be considered in filling these posts.

The men with whom Plastiras surrounded himself were described for the most part as having liberal affiliations, although they included several members of prominent families with rightist traditions.

The important post of minister of foreign affairs was awarded to 57-year-old Liberal John Sofianopolous, who founded the Greek Agrarian party in 1932.

Allied Casualties Picture is Hazy

Paris, Jan. 4.—(P)—Supreme headquarters took the position today that Allied losses were a phase of the war which it could not cover—that the announcements must be left to the respective governments.

Admittedly, this makes for an incomplete picture of the battle, in which the Allies have lost heavily, as have the Germans, whose losses are being reported here.

Today, for example, the First and Third Armies announced they had taken a total of 19,154 German prisoners since Field Marshal von Rundstedt's breakthrough started December 16. Besides these official figures, First Army reporters have been permitted to carry "unofficial estimates" that the breakthrough cost the Germans 50,000 casualties.

But there have been no Allied figures to balance the German claims of Allied losses. German propaganda is compounding these daily. Yesterday the German high command's broadcast communique claimed more than 60,000 American casualties since the winter counter-offensive began. Today Germans were proclaiming that 140,000 Americans had been lost on the western front in December.

Today, for example, the First and Third Armies announced they had taken a total of 19,154 German prisoners since Field Marshal von Rundstedt's breakthrough started December 16. Besides these official figures, First Army reporters have been permitted to carry "unofficial estimates" that the breakthrough cost the Germans 50,000 casualties.

But there have been no Allied figures to balance the German claims of Allied losses. German propaganda is compounding these daily. Yesterday the German high command's broadcast communique claimed more than 60,000 American casualties since the winter counter-offensive began. Today Germans were proclaiming that 140,000 Americans had been lost on the western front in December.

Highway Crews Battle Snow Under Unusual Conditions

Never in the history of Warren and adjacent counties in the snow belt has there been such a road condition as now exists. Machinery owned by the state, county and borough is not heavy enough to successfully battle the huge drifts that have formed in almost every section. The heavy snow fall that took place in December has broken all records and it was announced officially today by U. S. Observer Merrill Jordan that in the borough 35 inches of snow fell in the past month. At the same time the official measurements of the Highway Department made at Lander show 70 inches had fallen on the level there where the gauge was unaffected by the drifts and wind.

Warren Lowe, local head of the Highway Department stated this morning that the crews have simply been swamped by the snow-fall. Some of the difficulties met

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Over at Beatty school a gang of kids of the town are working to make an ice skating rink. They have labored long and hard, shoveled snow and squirted water and a bunch of them are sporting frozen ears. And all the time along the Conewango creek there is ice and plenty of it. And it all reminds the old-timers that ice skating on the creek was a great winter diversion, with hundreds wheeling around cutting figure eights and doing other sundry and fancy twirls. The lads would clear the ice of snow and every night would flood the spot and the next day and night the fun would be fast and furious. The mill pond also was a favorite place to skate and some of the older Scottish folk did a bit of curling there.

And the whole darn thing was done without a bit of publicity and not one appeal was made for adult help. However, if the kids feel that they have to have the rink at the Beatty school, more power to 'em and their efforts to that end are worth recognizing.

"Gib" Johnson recalled the other day that he and Ed Miller were just about the best bunch of record-holders for "jumps" on Bunker Hill that ever slid down that course. He recounted some of the thrilling trips he made down the hill and some of the stunts that "Hi Hi" Miller performed on the steep course that provided plenty of narrow escapes and oodles of fun. "Gib" said he had one of the best sleds in town and that when it came to jumping he didn't take a back seat for anyone on the hill.

Scientist Perfects Penicillin Spray to Treat Infected Lungs

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Correspondent
Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.—"Are you all right?" The woman's voice over the telephone was tense.

In the answer to her question hung the fate of a penicillin experiment which might affect all mankind.

But her concern was for a young colleague who alone at night in a deserted laboratory was self-strapped into an oxygen-mask, pumping penicillin for the first time into human lungs to put his experiment to the crucial test. He was 31-year-old Vernon Bryson, research scientist of the Long Island Biological Laboratory, who one night last June pulled a successful experiment from his test tubes which may chalk up another triumph for the wonder drug.

Proof of its great promise is that this method for inhaling penicillin is in experimental use in the Huntington Long Island Hospital and in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York's Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center. Promising to be a more effective cure for pulmonary diseases, the new method of administering the yellow magic is to have patients drag in into their lungs in a mist of fine particles. This gets bigger doses more directly to infected lung areas.

In developing the method, Bryson had the help of two colleagues. One, whose telephone call on that eventful summer night climaxed a six month's experiment is Eva Sansome, British mycologist of the neighboring Carnegie Institute of Genetics. The other is Sidney

Vienna—In Path of Soviets' Swinging Scythe

Here is the heart of Vienna, capital of Austria, bankrupt symbol of a vanished era of wine, women and Strauss waltzes, now a prime military objective of the Red army's relentless drive through Hungary toward south Germany. The photo was taken when crowds jam-packed the Heldenplatz, on the famed Ringstrasse, to celebrate the anniversary of Anschluss with Nazi Germany. Ironically, atop the tower of the new court house a slogan proclaims "Victory in the West." It was in the classic Greek parliament building on November 12, that Austria was proclaimed a republic.

Shrine Club Has Annual Dinner Meet

The annual meeting of the Warren County Shrine Club was held last evening at the American Legion Home, preceded by a fine musical-dinner. Chief item on the menu, the muskie, was provided by W. E. Yeager and son, Bill.

Annual reports of the Zema Zema Hospital in Erie were given and directors named for the coming year: Edward Walker, Donald C. Smith, B. V. Lesser, L. P. Krespan and Hiding Lundahl.

At their organization meeting which followed, directors named these officers: President, Mr. Walker; vice president, Mr. Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Lesser.

A social time followed, with discussion of the approaching annual ceremonial in Erie on Wednesday, January 10.

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral home are from 10 a. m. to 12; 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

KARL OLSON
Services in memory of Karl Olson, who died on December 30, were held at Saron Lutheran church in Youngsville on January 1, preceded by a prayer service at the family home at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Nore Gustafson, of Warren, officiated. Bearers were Oscar Bergman, George Peterson, Leo Johnson, Edolph Johnson, Ed Lundgren and John Babcock.

Mr. Olson was born in Olme Varmland, Sweden, on June 3, 1866. He came to this country in 1891 and has resided in Youngsville for the past 53 years.

He was a member of Saron Lutheran church that entire period.

He is survived by his wife, Josephine Marie Olson, and the following children: Mrs. John Christenson and Mrs. Floyd Hetfield, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Charles Johnson, Youngsville; Adolph Olson, Geneseo, N. Y.; Paul and Clara Olson, at home; William H. Olson, Bradford; also four grandchildren. Besides these, he leaves three sisters in Sweden. (Jamestown and Bradford papers please copy).

PETER AMACHER
Peter Amacher, husband of Margaret Yagge Amacher, of Galeton, died at one o'clock last evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Mack, at Venturatown. He was born in Berne, Switzerland, on July 17, 1857.

Besides his wife, he leaves the following children: Fred, Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. Mack, Venturatown; Leon A. Renovo; Harold E. Elmira, N. Y.; Howard R., of Warren; also eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Removal has been made to the Peterson Funeral Home where friends may call at the usual hours. Funeral services will be held from there at 2 p. m. Saturday, with interment in Oakland cemetery.

EARL A. FELLOWS
Services in memory of Earl A. Fellows, 10 Clark street, were held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Adjutant Arthur Brandenburg, of the Salvation Army Corps. Mrs. Sumner Ruhlman sang three hymns, "Thou Thinkest, Lord, of Me," "Does Jesus Care?" and "Pass Me Not." Interment was made in Pine Grove cemetery at Russell, with the following serving as bearers: Charles Roberts, Charles Woodley, Harry Fish, Edward Pratt, Garvin Madigan and Joseph Schuyler.

Attending the rites from out of town were Harry Fish, Erie; Joseph Schuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fellows, Akeley; Mrs. Kate Lounsberry, Mrs. Jane Fellows, Russell; Mrs. Schuyler, Jamestown, N. Y.

Two Named to Positions In County Today

At a meeting of the Warren county commissioners held this morning in their offices at the court house two of the appointments to the new positions created by the legislature in 1942 were made.

For the office of chief assessor, Donald Schuler was named, with Irene Richwalsky as his deputy. Mr. Schuler will continue to act as chief clerk for the board of commissioners. His deputy has been employed in the commissioners' office for the past five years. Both have been engaged a large share of the time on the assessment work and are familiar with it. There will be no changes in their salary in spite of the added work put on them. Both have accepted.

Lieut. J. D. Benson, of Sheffield, was named as graves registrar, a position also created by the legislature. He will have a salary of $2100 and his expenses. This is a post that will grow in importance as he will be adviser to soldiers and their dependants and will assist them in all work connected in the securing of pensions, allotments, etc.

Further appointments will be made later.

Kiwanis Club Officers Are All Installed

Principal item of business at the Wednesday luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club, held at the Hotel Carver, was installation of officers by Past President Harold D. Baker.

Inducted into office were Dr. J. R. Elliott, as president; Carl W. Peterson, past president; Rev. H. L. Knappenberger, first vice president; C. C. Winans, second vice president; H. T. Flowers, treasurer; T. D. Cook, secretary.

Directors for three years are W. R. Simonsen, Dr. W. E. Biddle and R. E. Johnson; for two years, Everett A. Stoke, Lee Zeiders and C. H. Springer; one year, C. L. Guignon, Charles Burnette and F. A. Wood.

Folders containing officers, local and international action committees and a full membership list were distributed to members.

Bus Driver In Hospital After Tough Trip

Eddie Burns, one of the drivers for the Greyhound Lines on the bus run through this city, was removed to an Erie hospital last evening after finally arriving in that city in a drive from Corry that required hours of duty. Burns is said to have a frozen foot and is suffering from exhaustion and other frostbite injuries in addition to the injured foot.

When his bus arrived in Corry from the east Monday night, Burns placed his passengers in Hotel Corry for the night but was forced to remain in his bus under orders which prevent a driver leaving the vehicle unless it can be housed in a garage when such stop-overs are forced enroute.

Tuesday morning, at an early hour, Burns got his passengers loaded and started west from this city. It is understood that he was practically all day in breaking through to Erie and that he arrived there in bad condition, although all of the passengers were said to be safe and to have suffered no ill effects. During the frequent stops on the run to Erie Burns did a lot of work outside in clearing snow and suffered extremely from the low temperature and high wind as well as from over-exertion.

Agents To Meet At Carver House

The Purchasing Agents Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Hotel Carver here this evening.

The 6:30 o'clock dinner will be followed by a business session, after which H. L. Karness, of the Knox Glass Associates, Inc., will conduct a commodity discussion on containers and their associated product, paper.

H. W. Ledebur, of the Hammond Iron Works, will again lead the commodity discussion on steel.

West Ridge Tries to Open Pittsburgh Line

Supt. William Kribell, of the local West Ridge bus office, reported today that the company is making efforts to open the Pittsburgh-Buffalo route through this city. This morning a bus was started from Buffalo and one from Pittsburgh. The Buffalo bus was expected in Warren at about the regular time as the roads which it would cover are reported to be open. The bus from Pittsburgh was expected to be some late in arriving in Warren as it was held up for some time in leaving Pittsburgh.

On the Erie-Kane route it was reported that a bus started from Erie but was turned back by the highway department due to the fact that Route 6 was snow-clogged and no traffic could move over it. Accordingly, a bus is being run from Youngsville to Kane and return.

Woman Hurt In Wreck Is at Destination

The report to the effect that Vera Bearfield, 820 Fourth avenue, was injured in the Ogden train wreck was confirmed January 1 by a long-distance call from the Union Pacific Railroad stating she had been hurt and was being sent through to San Francisco.

Mrs. Bearfield is the former Miss Vera Coon, Clearfield. She is the wife of John Bearfield, Jr., this city, who has been in the navy for the past two and one-half years, serving 18 months in the South Pacific.

She left Warren December 28 to go and spend some time with her husband in Berkeley, Calif., when the accident occurred.

A telegram was received January 2 by the family that she arrived safely and was met by her husband. Further news will be received in a letter which follows the telegram.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

MEET IN LONDON

Mrs. Joseph Scheerer is in receipt of a letter from her husband, Capt. Scheerer, telling of his meeting Major F. G. Templeton at a Red Cross center in London, England, and of their very pleasant two-hour visit.

GETS PURPLE HEART

Mrs. Mariam Jenkins, Youngsville, has received from her husband, Sgt. Eugene Jenkins, the Purple Heart awarded him for military merit and injuries received in action November 5 somewhere in Belgium. Sgt. Jenkins has been in service two years on January 15 and overseas for 16 months. He is with the quartermaster sales company of the First Army.

HAS HIS WINGS

Cp. Harold R. Hansen is spending a 15-day furlough with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hansen, 21 Clark street. Cpl. Hansen has been stationed in Yuma, Ariz., with AAF and received his gunner's wings on December 17. Following his visit at home, he will receive further training at Lincoln, Neb.

WOUNDED IN GERMANY

Mr. and Mrs. D. Wiles, of Tidoute, have received word that their son, Pfc. Donald D. Wiles, was wounded in action in Germany on December 14.

GETS DECORATION

Mrs. Bruce Geddes, 105 Lookout street, has received from her husband, the Purple Heart which was awarded him for wounds received in action in Italy November 3. He writes that he is improving but is still confined to the hospital.

Robert Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Nelson, of Ludlow, has left for Cherry Point, N. C., after a furlough at home with his wife, the former Inella Bulicz.

Lt. Morris Palmer is spending a leave in Ludlow with his family before leaving for the west coast. The Palmers moved to Ludlow from Jackson, Miss., in the late summer.

Lt. Wayne Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson, of Ludlow, is spending some time at home on leave. Lt. Anderson was severely wounded in action and everyone is happy to see him home again.

Cpl. Bert Fowler, of Heavener, Okla., recently spent three days visiting his aunt, Dora Conklin, and family in Youngsville. He has had 42 months in the service, 18 months of which has been overseas. This is his first visit to Pennsylvania and he found here more snow than he had previously seen in all his lifetime. He left for the east coast some days ago to rejoin his ship.

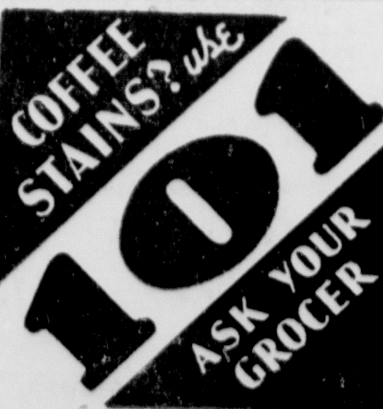

Word has been received by W. F. Schirck, 318 Onida avenue, from his son, Cpl. Paul E. Schirck, of his transfer from the Medical Corps in Fort Lewis, Wash., to an infantry unit at Camp Howze, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lutz, 125 Biddle street, have received a letter from their son, Bill, who is a flight officer with the Air Transport Command, that he is currently stationed in India and that Flight Officer Kenneth Porter, of Chandlers Valley, is there with him.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Keim, 109 Fifth avenue, have received word that their son Charles, in the Seabees, has arrived safely in the Aleutians.

2nd Lt. John M. Hickey left Sunday for Albuquerque, N. M., for further assignment following a holiday leave with his family in Clarendon.

Technical Titles Attract Interest at the Public Library

A display of technical titles, presented by the Floridin Company since the instituting of its Technical Book for the Month plan, has been attracting attention daily at the public library. There are 35 varied and authoritative books in the collection.

The importance of the technical section of a public library is being stressed all over the country. At the recent convention of public business librarians in Philadelphia, Dr. M. R. Niefeld, main speaker, stressed the importance of industry and public libraries cooperating to meet research and general industrial needs. Dr. Niefeld, economist of the Beneficial Management Corporation, in Newark, N. J., and a national authority on consumer credit, considers the public library one of the most powerful factors in the readjustment period following demobilization.

The Warren library keenly felt the need of technical books of an elementary nature, and those which were more advanced, at the time of the last depression. Men crowded into the library, with time to read and study, who had never entered the library before.

An acute need was again felt at the beginning of the nation's industrial defense program, when so many workers were getting their first shop experience. It is important that books of this type should be reliable and up to date. Because they do get out of date and often exceed the price of the usual book purchase, it takes adroit managing to develop the collection and to keep it up to date.

The Floridin Company's plan has shown recognition of the importance of having such a collection available to the public. The consistent plan for each month has resulted in the addition of a wide variety of titles which would otherwise probably not have been added to the collection.

The books will be on special display until the 15th of January. Included are books on welding, chemical engineering, synthetic rubber, aviation, cosmetology, radio, the cyclotron, industrial solvents, plastics, industrial filtration and many other technical subjects. The most recent additions are Snell & Snell's four volume work, Chemistry Made Easy and Harry Barron's Synthetic Rubbers.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, one day, by discovering that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and wastes out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

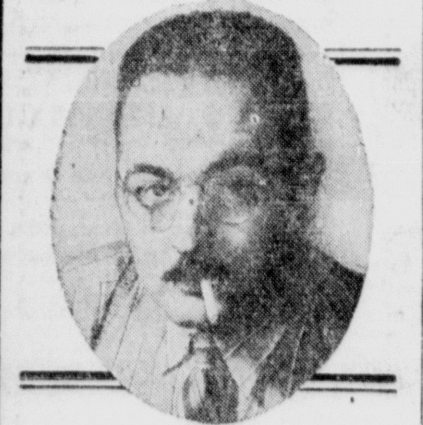

Foremen Will Hear Address On Telegraph

"The Centennial of Telegraph" will be the topic of an address to be given to the Warren Foremen's Club next Monday evening, when the organization holds its regular monthly dinner meeting at the Y. M. C. A., beginning at 6:30 p. m. The address will be delivered by J. F. Frazier, district manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

In addition the program will include two very interesting sound motion pictures: "On to Jupiter" and "Speed in Cutting". The committee promises some special entertainment, as well. Altogether a most interesting and informative meeting is indicated. Reservations for the supper are due in the "Y" office no later than Friday night.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS NEED BETTER EYES

ONE of the men in America who has seen war production at first hand is Kirk Earnshaw, Industrial relations editor of "Modern Industry." In the past 12 months he has traveled 30,000 miles in visiting industrial plants, large and small, in every major war production area in the country.

KIRK EARNSHAW

From this first-hand observation and experience he has come to the conclusion that neglected vision is one of the great problems of the nation's war production industries. "Bad Eyesight," he says, is a cause of accidents, of spoilage of materials and tools.

"Of even greater importance as a saboteur of the war effort is the effect of bad vision in respect to fatigue, tempers and judgment. Countless personnel men tell me that bad vision—chiefly lack of proper glasses or improper lighting, or both, is a major cause of absenteeism."

"Men and women—particularly, those newcomers to industry who are giving their eyes new tasks and new strains—and who have uncorrected visual defects, are the first to complain of excess fatigue, the first to take time off to rest. Actually they are sick—but no pills or rest will cure them. They just need glasses."

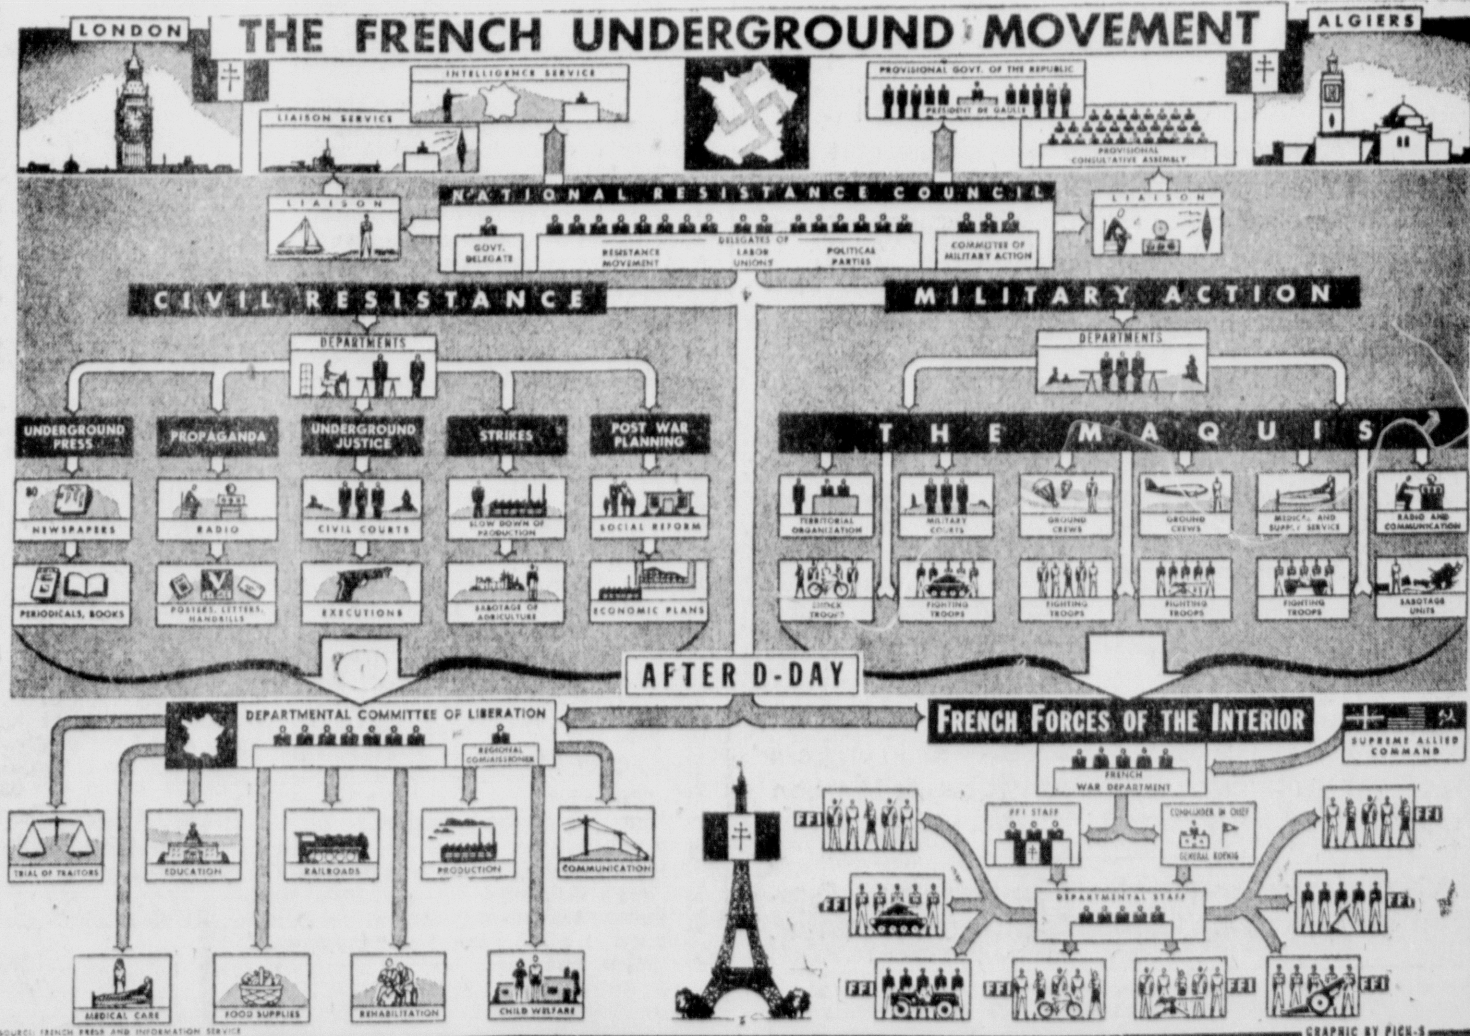

"A four-point eyesight program for industry to speed war production," says Mr. Earnshaw, "that I recommend includes: vision tests for every employee, new or old; use of corrective glasses, when their need is indicated by professional ophthalmic service; proper lighting, and the use of safety goggles in every hazardous occupation."

WRITTEN IN HISTORY

"We have stopped cold everything that has been thrown at us from the north, east, south, west," said the Christmas edition of a little paper put out by one of the encircled American outposts at Bastogne. "How effectively this was done will be written in history, not alone in the history of our glorious units, but in the history of the world."

Those are confident words, but they are not conceited. They are the words of men who knew what they had suffered, and they had accomplished by their suffering. And as nearly as one can predict, they are true.

It must be a solemn and glorious thing to realize that circumstances have brought one to the point where his actions may serve to guide or direct or inspire the lives of men in generations unborn and undreamed of. And surely it must be a realization granted only to a few.

It is doubtful that the Greeks at Thermopylae, the nobles at Runnymede, the farmers of Lexington or the citizens' army before the Bastille could have realized the impact that one day in their lives would have upon history.

But the men of Bastogne knew the stakes for which they expended their courage and their blood. They stopped the enemy at a critical moment, and did it with an unflinching bravery which is in the highest tradition of great soldiers. The thanks and glory they receive will be a meager recompense.

LISTEN TO THE DEAD

(Stars and Stripes, London Edition)

For the holy living love of God, let's listen to the dead!

Let's learn from the living!

Let's join ranks against the foe and toward the future!

Only yesterday lots of folks—frontline sloggers expected—had the war in the bag. It was all over but the shouting. But of shouting there was plenty . . . Unity and solidarity—strong when the United Nations were weak—were in a bad way.

Well, the bugles of battle are heard again above the bickering. The enemy lashes out in a last bloody bid for victory. Once more the warning sounds—Germany, the Nazis and Fascism are the enemy. . . of the Poles versus the Russians. Not the British versus the Greeks. Not the state department versus the foreign office. Not the British Commonwealth versus Communism.

But all of us believe in the dignity of the common man against Germany. Germany, which, in this, its last great struggle, hurls the challenge:

United Nations, remain united or die apart.

The American First Army's new counter-offensive against the northern flank of Nazi Marshal von Rundstedt's Belgian bulge affords solid encouragement, but shouldn't lure us once more into the pleasant and dangerous fields of over-optimism. The cold fact is that the crisis of the great German assault hasn't yet been passed.

Christmas activities in Warren will be brought officially to a close when Girl Scouts hold their annual "Twelfth Night" observance Saturday afternoon at the YWCA from 2:30 until 4:30. This is one of the most interesting and impressive of Girl Scout projects and it is a foregone conclusion there will be a large crowd in attendance.

With a little more cooperation on the part of the Weatherman, those young people in charge of the ice rink project at Beauty court may soon have their hopes realized.

The rigors of winter here on the home front are minor compared to the situation where gunfire spills death and destruction.

The state legislature convened Tuesday and congress got under way yesterday. No wonder it began to warm up.

The best slogan for war plants is: Don't put off to-day what our boys on the fighting fronts need tomorrow.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Thus saith the Lord God; Are ye come to enquire of me? As I live, saith the Lord God, I will not be enquired of by you.—Ezekiel 20:33.

EVENTUAL CESSATION OF GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — For some years now, it has been trite to say, "Roosevelt, longer than any other President," it will become duller before 1948. But it still makes news—and argument—when you open up with "Harry Hopkins, longer than any man associated with F.D.R."

Hopkins has been under the guns again. This time the attack came from commentators and senators who bitterly opposed some of the new appointments in the State department.

His principal nemesis this time was Sen. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, who professed to see in the new appointments a State department built by Hopkins.

Chandler was asked rather sarcastically during one debate just how close he thought Hopkins was to the President. He replied "just as close as a dead heat, and down in my country (the blue grass, where the Kentucky Derby is the annual turf classic) there is nothing closer."

Most of this grows out of the fact that Harry Hopkins is the White House's No. 1 mystery man. There isn't much mystery in the reasons for that. Before his protracted illness some years back, when he was secretary of Commerce, Hopkins was about as accessible as any one else in peacetime Washington. Even before that, when he was relief administrator, his press conferences were a delight to the newsmen and radio corps. There wasn't any question too tough or personal for Hopkins to answer.

Then came his illness. For a long time he disappeared from Washington. When he returned he moved into the White House. At the 1940 convention in Chicago, Hopkins was one of the smoke-filled room managers for the third term. In that campaign he became the President's No. 1 whipping boy.

When he married and his wife moved into the White House, criticism flamed again.

IT'S no secret around the presidential mansion that all of this was painfully embarrassing to Hopkins and a source of some amusement to the President. Insiders say F.D.R. even added to the raging of his oldest official friend and intimate.

Before the 1944 race reached the fourth term announcement Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins and his daughter by a previous marriage had taken a home of their own. Hopkins might then have emerged from his "mystery man" role, but he had meanwhile been given one of the most hush-hush jobs in Washington—the allocation of munitions to our Allies and the fighting fronts. Officially, there wasn't a word he could say. The "mystery" continued.

NO DOUBT Hopkins is close to the President. His small office in the new east wing of the White House has a private phone through the White House switchboard, but so do the offices of James F. Byrnes and several others. And it might be pointed out for what it's worth that Hopkins never has been given the authority that Byrnes now has as director of war mobilization and reconversion.

The role that Hopkins has played through the years as confidante to the President will have to wait for history and memoirs that will come out of this administration's retirement. But you can get odds from a good many insiders that when it does come to light, it will be much less of a "mystery role" of inner circle power than has been made out in recent years.

Young Doctor Merry

by PEGGY GADDIS AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 12

THERE was a moment of complete silence. Then Jerry's face lit up with a light of such wonder and happiness as to make them all feel a little stab of pity and a tenderness almost maternal.

"No kidding, Doc?" demanded Jerry eagerly.

"I'd never kid you about a thing like that," said Dr. Nichols.

Jerry drew a long breath and passed a hand across his forehead, and Meredith saw again that it shook; but there was such a radiance in his eyes that the shadows had almost completely vanished.

"Lord, but that's good hearing," he said, and boyishly, was abashed at the emotion he was revealing.

"I want to get married in the spring, you see. And—Israel and I both like kids and we want at least half a dozen. I couldn't give you a dad that was—cracked!"

Dr. Nichols let him go without a warning, or frightening word. When the door had closed behind him, they all sat still until the sound of the feed store's small delivery truck in which he had driven out, had faded into silence. Meredith spoke first.

"Then Jerry's not the source of our fever trouble, after all?" Her voice shook a little. "I'm so darned glad!"

DR. NICHOLS looked at her sharply.

"Who said he wasn't?" he snapped.

Meredith caught her breath and her head went up.

"But you let him go out of here—you didn't tell him—" she stammered, puzzled.

"I didn't tell him because I wasn't sure," answered Dr. Nichols. "I pride myself on being a tough old bird, but to lay a featherweight more of worry on a mind as delicately balanced as that boy's, at the moment, is more than I can stomach!"

Meredith asked huskily, "Then—he's the one?"

Dr. Nichols made an impatient gesture.

"Damn it, I tell you, I don't know!" he snapped. "He's apparently quite sound. There's no trace of the disturbance in his system. His blood count's completely normal, and there's no trace of an infection. Yet where else could the people in this section pick up a tropic fever?"

Alice said quietly, "Of course, Dr. Nichols, we all realize that in the past there have been many instances in medical history where people who were themselves entirely free of any sign of a disease have been able to infect those with whom they come in contact."

Dr. Nichols nodded, scowling. "Of course. And I am convinced that Jerry is a carrier for this damned fever."

The faintly stated thought struck Meredith hard.

"You think—" She stammered and was still.

Dr. Nichols glared at her.

"I think," he repeated. "But we've got to be sure. That's why you are to leave for Washington this afternoon."

Meredith blinked and stared at him wide-eyed.

"Why am I to leave for Washington?" she gasped.

Dr. Nichols nodded. "You are an unusual brilliant woman, Dr. Merry, and I think it would be a fine experience for you. I believe you could bring us back something very valuable."

HE WAS bringing out papers from the drawer in his desk, talking as he moved.

"Here's the man you're to see in Washington. He's with the Army Medical Staff, and one of the best in his field, which is tropical diseases," he explained and offered her a letter in an unsealed envelope. "I wired him this afternoon, and just before you came in, he wired back, giving you an appointment for tomorrow afternoon. You can go straight there from the airfield when you land. Here's a copy of the charts on the three patients we have here, with all the available data. And here's his medical discharge papers and complete history, when you get to Major Stephenson's office. If you hurry, you can get the 3:05 down to Atlanta, and that will make it in time for you to get the morning plane to Washington—around midnight, I think it is."

A trifle dazed, Meredith accepted the papers, and stammered, helplessly, "But—but you seem to take it for granted I'll go—"

Dr. Nichols glared at her furiously.

"Well, certainly I take it for granted," he growled. "What else can you do? You're a doctor, aren't you? Want an epidemic of this damned disease to sweep over the whole blasted community, and maybe down into the valleys? Listen, my girl, we've got to scotch this thing and scotch it quick! If Jerry's not the one, then we've got to find out who is. And we're checking on Jerry in Washington, we'll be checking everything here—water supply, sanitation, anything and everything that might just possibly be it! Now get going, girl—and, of course, you are not to tell a single soul of any of this—not even where you are going. Not even your husband."

Meredith said sharply, "Hi, wa, a minute—"

"Not even your husband," Dr. Nichols repeated sternly. "Tell him you're going to Atlanta to buy a hat! It's one of the times when being a doctor comes first; being a woman comes second. Jerry is your patient, and a patient's confidence is sacred!"

Mutinously, Meredith stared at him. But she knew that he was right. She owed Jerry her silence. She nodded and stood up.

"You haven't got much time," Dr. Nichols warned her.

Meredith said through her teeth, "I know, I'll make that train," she promised him.

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Jan. 1—The Moriah Lutheran Sunday School presented its Christmas program on Wednesday at 7 p. m. to an appreciative audience. The church was decorated with a tree and candles. The program opened with an organ prelude, followed by the Sunday School procession with "Hark The Herald Angels Sing" being sung by the group and accompanied by the High School Orchestra. "The Song and The Star" by Hilda Marie Benson was used in part for the program. Readers for the program were Margaret Ann Swanson, Shirley Cochran and Alfred Johnson. Several Christmas carols were used with orchestra accompaniment. A saxophone solo, "Under The Stars", by Margaret Brown was given by Thomas Nelson. The entire primary Sunday School appeared on the program, and grades four, five, and six in the Intermediate Department also were on the program. The program was under the direction of Supt. Gustav Olson of the Intermediate Dept. and Supt. Mrs. Leroy Johnson of the Primary Dept. Mrs. Emil Nelson conducted the orchestra on the night of the program. Books were given to children receiving largest donations for the Jamestown Children's Home; Vivian Nelson, Ann Marie Johnson and Delores Johnson. Books were given to those with perfect attendance records: Richard Johnson, four-year attendance; 3 year attendance, Dolores Johnson and Katherine Swanson; 2 year attendance, Freddie Johnson, Joanna Johnson, Alfred Johnson and Alene Johnson; 1 year attendance, John G. Johnson and Edith L. Larson.

Honorable mention was made of Thomas and James Nelson who have missed only one day, and that due to illness during the last five years. Large oranges were given

Francis J. Benbenek, petty officer second class, who has spent two years in the South Pacific with the SeaBees, has left for Davisville, R. I. for his next assignment, having spent a 35-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benbenek, 929 Stone avenue.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Mrs. Grace Swanson, of Russell, has been notified by the War Department that her son, Pvt. Glenn L. Swanson, was wounded in action in Northern France on October 8 and was shipped back to Italy for hospitalization. He is doing nicely at last reports and has been awarded the Purple Heart.

Mrs. Elmer Henry has received a telegram from her son, Sherwood, seaman second class, telling of his safe arrival in Hutchinson, Kans., after spending the holidays at his home in Dunham street, Sheffield.

1st/Sgt. Raymond H. Baughman and his wife, the former Katherine Lawson, came from Avon Park, Fla., and, with Miss Mae Lawson, of Trenton, N. J., were holiday guests of Mrs. Anna Krantz Lawson, 17 West Third avenue.

A/C W. F. Maier, of Greenwood, Miss., was home on a Christmas furlough with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maier, returned to Blytheville, Ark., to complete his training.

William Stanley Schader, seaman second class, stationed at the naval air training base in Filrod, is spending a ten-day leave with Mr. and Mrs. C. Schader, Cobham Park road, and extends a happy "hello" to all his friends.

Word has been received here that Pvt. Paul A. Eaton, who recently graduated from the U. S. Army parachute school at Fort Benning, Ga., has been moved to Fort Ord, Calif. Since first graduating from the paratroopers school in October, Pvt. Eaton has had six weeks additional training at the same station. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eaton, of Buffalo, N. Y., formerly of Warren.

Swedish and English Christmas Carols were used. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Johnson and Richard Johnson served lunch to the group after the carols had been enjoyed for some time.

Communion services were held on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock in Moriah Lutheran with sixty-six participating in the Lord's Supper. The Rev. Hans Pearson officiated.

Vesper services were held in the Covenant Mission church on Sunday evening with the Rev. Wilbert Nyline of Kane conducting the service.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — In "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" John Hodiak has the kind of "entrance" actors dream about. For considerably more than half the picture, other players are talking about him and little else. The plot centers mainly on whether he, as the soldier, will or will not show up for the dinner.

After the long build-up, many an actor would disappoint when he actually appeared. Hodiak has the strength and honesty to fill the bill. In real life, too, he's that way, which is probably why he can project a character convincingly.

Hodiak's entrance into pictures was somewhat less spectacular, unaided by a script. He was working in radio, doing soap operas, announcements and routine chores when he made a screen test with Canada Lee, the Negro actor. M-G-M signed Hodiak as a possibility, lost him in its list of stock actors. For months he did nothing, then played sundry bits. Then at 20th Century-Fox Alfred Hitchcock began casting "Lifeboat." He needed a Negro character, and he heard that M-G-M had a test of Canada Lee. When he saw it, he signed both Lee and Hodiak—and M-G-M had a new star in its lap.

FOR 20 years Hodiak, who will be 31 soon, has been dreaming of the success he now is attaining. As a boy he haunted Detroit movie houses. The late Doug Fairbanks was his idol, and he saw some of Doug's films five or six times. He thrilled also to westerns and to serials.

"My dad gave me 20 cents a week," he recalls, "but that wasn't enough for my movie needs. So I collected junk metal, melted it for the lead, and sold that."

Hodiak's father and mother are with him now. His father, as John will tell you proudly, is a laborer and intends to keep on working—in a war plant. His mother will not be really happy here until she can start a garden and keep chickens. Hodiak, for them, refused to adopt a fancy movie name. He wanted Mamma to be able to say "That's my boy" when she saw him on the screen. Hodiak is of Ukrainian descent, and Ukrainian fans write many letters lauding his loyalty to his name.

TURNED down at first for radio because of his accent, Hodiak turned his job with a motor company into dictation lessons. He had to read long columns of figures for checking, and he read them aloud. Next time he auditioned, he was in.

He started at $35 a week, $10 less than he was making in his old job. Today, in pictures, he makes about the same as his best radio earnings, no more. His name has gone up in lights with Talulah Bankhead's and Lana Turner's, and will be with Gene Tierney's in "A Bell for Adano," but his salary was caught in the freeze.

"I do not care," he says. "I do the best job I can in every picture; I like to act; I think acting is important work; I am not doing it just for the money."

Coming On Tuesday

The gypsies on the parapet outside the castle's secret room while away their time in a merry dance while they await the solution of the plot in "The Prince's Secret", coming here on Tuesday afternoon as a Clare Tree Major attraction.

Everyone will want to try and solve the plot of "The Prince's Secret," the young people's mystery play which is being presented by the Clare Tree Major Players next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Dick Rapp, young Warren actor with the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre, will play the title role. This should be a real treat for Warren people who have wanted to see the talented young player. The manager has spoken very highly of Dick's work, in a long distance call to Mrs. Walter Mathyer, president of the Community P.T.A. Council, which is sponsoring the children's play.

Mrs. Mathyer stated yesterday that this fast-moving mystery play should appeal to the Beaty school and high school young people, as well as the younger boys and girls. The scene of the play is laid in the palace of Prince Ramon of Castilla. There is an excellent scene also in the gypsies' camp. The cast includes 15 talented players, who all contribute to the color and excitement of the play.

There are no tickets left for the afternoon performance; but tickets may still be secured for the evening. They may be had at any school auditorium. A large number of boys and girls came in to the plays from other parts of the county. Curtin time is four o'clock in the afternoon and seven o'clock in the evening.

ROAD COMPANY IS BEHIND SCHEDULE

Mrs. Walter Mathyer, president of the P.T.A. Council, was advised in a wire which came this morning from Mrs. Clare Tree Major that storm conditions have delayed her road company schedule and it will be impossible to get to Warren Monday for the presentation of "The Prince's Secret", starring Richard Rapp, local player. The play has been changed to Tuesday afternoon and evening if there are no further severe storms but ticket holders are advised to watch this paper for possible announcement of further change.

CHRISTMAS PARTY OF LADIES' UNION (Special to Times-Mirror)

The annual Christmas party of the Ladies' Union of the Irvine Presbyterian church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ernest Crull, with 19 members in attendance. The home had a affily decorated Christmas tree and other decorations which added to the holiday spirit. The singing of Christmas carols preceded the devotion and all readings were of the Nativity and the Yuletide. After a very short business session, the remainder of the evening was spent in a social way.

As members arrived they brought with them gifts for exchange with other members. These eventually disappeared but, some time later, Santa Claus came, all spruced up and with jingling sleigh bells and a huge pack of gifts, looking rather shy among so many ladies. He was most generous and the gifts were very acceptable, even though they looked vaguely familiar. The ladies also brought or sent small gifts for a sunshine box for Mrs. Crull's mother, Mrs. Anna Lawson, who has been confined to her room for some time through illness.

At the close of a delightful evening, Mrs. Crull served delicious refreshments. The dining table was prettily decorated with a miniature Christmas tree and lighted tapers. Smaller tables were placed in the living room. Favors were wax trees in assorted colors and Santa Claus figures, all in candle form. The Christmas freewill offering was a generous one. At a late hour Mrs. Crull's guests departed, voting her a most delightful hostess. The next meeting will be held January 18 at the home of Mrs. Clair Hendrickson in Youngsville.

Boys' Cage League Starts On Saturday

The Boys Basketball League of the YMCA will get under way on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The league will be composed of boys ranging in age from 13 to 16 years.

It is planned to limit the league roster to four teams so that every team will get an opportunity to play every Saturday. There will be two games played every Saturday afternoon. The first game will start at 2 o'clock and the second game at 3 o'clock.

A meeting of all the boys interested in playing in the league has been called by Lloyd Shirk, program secretary of the YMCA, for Friday, January 5, at 4 o'clock. The schedule will be drawn up at this meeting and the boys who are not signed up with a team will be placed on a team at that time.

All boys who want to play in the league are urged to attend the meeting. However, if a boy cannot be present at the meeting on Friday he should send in his name so that he can be placed on a team.

One - Armed Ball Player Is Honored

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 4.—(P)—Pete Gray, one-armed outfielder who, despite his handicap, won a major league berth, was announced today as the winner of the Spokane Round Table's sixth annual sportsmanship award.

The Spokane group said Gray would be awarded a $1,000 war bond at a fitting ceremony. He was picked on the basis of nominations by sports editors of the nation.

Gray was signed last fall by the St. Louis Browns and will join them in spring training.

Behind the Lines and Under the Covers

When you read this I will be home. A hospital is a nice place to have your surplus aches and pains removed and to rest up for a while but I don't think I would care for it as a steady diet. However, I am lucky. When you get to looking around and see the people who have been there for a long, long time and who will be there for quite a while yet, you begin to appreciate that health is a mighty nice thing to have. This body of ours clicks pretty well as long as we take a decent amount of care for it but it is just like any other machine—you can't put mud in the crankcase and sand in the gears without causing the thing to go haywire. Good health is very easy to keep—and it is also very easy to lose. So, how about one New Year's resolution that we'll all stick to—that each of us will be a little more careful about our own health.

It would be the depth of ingratitude if I didn't give my heartfelt thanks to the nurses who were so kind and considerate and who did everything possible to make me comfortable and contented. . . . to the Nurses Aides who filled in so wonderfully when the regular staff was so rushed and overworked. . . . to the dietician and the cooks for swell meals, even if I did think for a while that gingerale was the only thing they served. . . . to the dozens of folks who sent cheery greetings, boxes of candy and salted nuts, books and magazines and flowers and who dropped in to say "hello" to the Times-Mirror people who did my own work in addition to their own. . . . and to those half-dozen people who kept right on reading "Behind the Lines" while I was under the covers. What a dreary world it would be without friends.

The gang was out on the cement court back of Beatty school last night working to get the place flooded so there would be good ice for skating. When a group like this gets together and decides that something is going to be done the chances are it will be done. Those Christmas skates are going to get a workout yet.

Be sure you drop in at the Y. M. C. A. tonight for the basketball games. And on Friday night why not do the same to see the Girls' Basketball League in action? It will be worth your time and might turn you into a regular customer.

Tomorrow night the High School Dragons travel to Bradford to tangle with the Owls. Bradford is a heavy favorite to cop this encounter and the locals will have spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dailey. She left Christmas night for Jamestown, where in a few months she will finish her training.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilson and family went to Watts Flats the last of the week to visit friends and word has been received that he was in the Jamestown hospital where he underwent an operation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson and daughter, Kathleen, spent Sunday in Oil City with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eberts and Christmas they were guests of the Earnest Johnson family in Warren.

Mrs. Floyd Smith was a guest at the home of her brother, Louie Johnson, and family, in Warren Christmas afternoon and evening. Robert Wilson was home on a furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson. He returned the first of the week to camp.

Mr. and Mrs. William Huckabone, accompanied by Mrs. Maynard, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dailey Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Christie spent Christmas with their son, John, and wife, at Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Randall entertained a large party of relatives Christmas. Their daughter, Isabella, who is in training at Jamestown, was home. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kulbacki and family, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Prichrilla and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Randall were a portion of their company.

IRVINE

Irvine, Jan. 2.—We are having the worst winter in many years. Lots of snow and very cold. Christmas has come and gone for another year. There were many sad homes with vacant chairs. Some that never can be filled again. Many are living in hopes that many can return safe. The only way we can do is put our trust in a higher power and hope for peace soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dailey have received word that their son, Jack, is again in the hospital, caused by injury to his hand.

The W. C. Abplanalp home had all their children home for Christmas. Their daughter, Katherine Crispell and family of Jamestown, Marjorie Hendrickson and family of Youngsville, and Mary Lawson, who came home last week from Texas, where she spent some time with her husband, was home with her little daughter, Susan.

Little Zelma Abplanalp is spending her seventh birthday today at home with a family gathering.

Mrs. Verena Abplanalp, who is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Munksgard spent Christmas Day at the home of her son, William Abplanalp.

Miss Ruth Stewart, who is in training at Williamsport, came home Christmas evening and has been spending the time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Stewart and sister, Betty. She is supposed to return today.

Miss Jeanne Dailey came home from Gowanda State Hospital and

FORGED DOCUMENTS

ON TWO SABOTEURS

New York, Jan. 4.—(P)—Forged documents bearing 1946 dates, found in the possession of two alleged Nazi saboteurs landed on the Maine coast, appeared to indicate today the possibility that the German high command expects the war to go into next year.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation made public one document, a draft board classification marked "local board No. 18, Suffolk County, 419 Boylston street, Boston, Mass." It carried the postal cancellation, "Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 7 p. m., 1946."

YOUNG ALCOHOLIC VICTIM

St. Louis, Jan. 4.—(P)—Robert Pankey, 7, died yesterday, a victim of acute alcoholism. The boy's parents reported finding him, apparently intoxicated, in their basement on New Year's night. He told them he had drunk a cup of whiskey.
